FIRE RAGING IN DUTCH SHIP AT VANCOUVER

English-Made Autos
Reported in Hold

VANCOUVER, April 28 (CP)—Firefighters and crew members wearing oxygen masks today battled to control a fire raging in the vitals of the Dutch freighter Dongedyk, tied up at Ballantyne pier here.

About an hour after the first alarm, firemen apparently were confining the blaze to the engine room and No. 3 hold.

First reports were that no one was injured. Eight passengers were hastily evacuated from the 10,942-ton passenger-cargo vessel, making her maiden voyage.

First alarm was turned in by a crew member and fire trucks and the harbor fireboat sped to the scene. Six tugs stood by the pier, ready to pull the Holland-America Lines' freighter out into the stream if the blaze could not be controlled.

Thick, black smoke poured skyward like an oil gusher and only occasional glimpses could be caught of the firemen through the murk.

The third alarm was turned in 50 minutes after the first. Scores of police roped off the area.

Ballantyne pier is only a couple of blocks from the United Grain Growers' dock, destroyed in a multi-million dollar fire last Wednesday.

City inhalator squads stood by ready to treat any firefighters overcome by smoke and fumes.

The fire broke out about 10:50 a.m. Passengers and crew were all believed safe.

Precautions were taken against a possible explosion.

PEASOUP SMOKE

Lifelines were shot over the side in case there was an explosion and the men had to jump for their lives.

Peasoup smoke "and fumes finally forced firefighters out of the engine room. Thirty men with gas masks were trying to get at the engine room through No. 3 hold of the Dongedyk, out of Rotterdam.

Off-duty firemen were called in to help battle the conflagration.

Both firemen and crew tackled the fire, apparently in the engine room. Thick, black smoke also poured from No. 3 hold.

Six tugs stood by the smoking vessel ready to pull her away from the pier.

The fireboat sprayed carbon dioxide chemicals into the hold.

The freighter arrived here Sunday night and started to unload early today. Thirty-seven English cars were in No. 3 hold.

There was no indication how the fire started.

Family Jailed
So Girl Can Receive Blood

ODESSA, Texas, April 28 (BUP).—Marie Oliff, whose father and brothers were jailed so she could have a blood transfusion to save her life, is reported "much improved."

The 20-year-old divorcee suffered multiple bone fractures in a traffic accident. Her relatives had guarded her hospital room to prevent any blood transfusions, saying it would violate Biblical law. They belong to the Jehovah's Witnesses religious sect.

The father, William Oliff of Midland, Texas, and her brothers of Brooklyn, New York, were arrested in the hospital corridors Sunday when they resisted a determined move to give the injured woman blood.

They were charged with disturbing the peace, and today are free on a $250 bond each. Hospital authorities said none of the three has returned to the hospital, but if they do "we'll be ready for them."

The hospital announced that Marie is "still critical but much improved" since her transfusion. It was given as sheriff's deputies led her relatives off to jail.

Ridgway Replaces 'Ike' As N.A.T.O. Commander

ELECTION CAMPAIGN TEMPO IN HIGH GEAR

Conservatives Complete Platform Draft
Wednesday; Johnson Opens Island Tour

With three party platforms now drafted, and the fourth slated for completion Wednesday, British Columbia's six-week provincial election campaign swung into high gear today.

Premier Johnson will tee off an island speaking tour for the Liberals at Campbell River tonight.

Social Crediters, after their week-end convention in New Westminster, are planning an intensive campaign—directed by Rev. E. G. Hansell, the national president.

Progressive Conservative Party holds a full scale provincial executive meeting in Vancouver Wednesday to nail down its platform. Leader Herbert Anscomb is scheduled to touch off the campaign locally by addressing the Victoria nominating meeting Thursday night, when four nominees will vie for the three Victoria candidatures.

MEETINGS TONIGHT
The C.C.F. camp has two big meetings scheduled for tonight in Esquimalt. Party leader Harold Winch will appear at both.

One meeting is at the Fraser Street Hall in Esquimalt municipality; the other, at Colwood Community Hall.

Mr. Winch will open the municipal meeting while Frank Mitchell, candidate for the district, will begin the meeting at Colwood. While each travels to the other meeting, Frank Snowsell, C.C.F. candidate in Saanich, will address the Colwood meeting, and Colin Cameron, party candidate in Victoria, will speak to the Fraser Street meeting.

Here are the known candidates for Greater Victoria voters to consider:
Victoria—Liberals, Mrs. Nancy Hodges, Capt. D. J. Proudfoot, W. T. Straith; C.C.F., Colin Cameron, Mrs. May Campbell, William Caird; Social Credit, Mrs. Lydia Arsen, E. D. McEwan, Donald Smith; Independents, W. A. Scott and Philip Freedman; Conservatives, C. S. H. Holmes; C.C.F., Frank Snowsell; Social Credit, A. F. Beyerstein.

Oak Bay—Liberals, Percy Gibbs; Conservatives, Herbert Anscomb; C.C.F., Fred Bevis; Social Credit, George Alexander.

Esquimalt—Liberals, Geoffrey Edgelow; Conservatives, Robert Ford; C.C.F., Frank Mitchell; Social Credit, William Chant.

TEXT BOOKS FREE
The resolution passed by the Liberals noted that textbooks are provided free to private as well as to public school students and that in some cases free medical and dental care is provided for other than public school pupils.

The resolution added:
"Be it resolved that the government be urged to consider any other apparent matters of discrimination with a view to further eliminating any such discrimination."

Under the present school system in B.C., separate schools do not receive financial aid from the provincial government.

Before passing this resolution, the Liberals voted to shelve an executive resolution calling for partial integration of Roman Catholic schools into the public school system, an aim now being sought by the provinces' Catholics.

The meeting Sunday scolded Education Minister Straith for statements he made recently in a speech to the B.C. Teachers' Federation.

Mr. Straith quoted a statement by Dr. B. Conant, Harvard University president, that a "dual system of education could threaten the democratic unity of the public school system."

ABOARD U.S.S. O'HARE IN MID-ATLANTIC, April 27 (Delayed) (AP).—A tempestuous sea strewn with wreckage. Empty life-jackets rolling in an oil slick. The body of a chief petty officer tossed in the raging waters.

This was the scene minutes after the aircraft carrier Wasp knifed into the destroyer Hobson Saturday night, sending the comparatively-lightweight, converted minesweeper to the bottom with an estimated 176 of her crew.

The tragedy struck without warning on a rolling sea under faint stars and a black sky.

Most of the Hobson's men (believed to number 347) were trapped below decks. Many had never been at sea before. A watch of about seven men and possibly as many officers out of the 14 aboard had a chance to escape. There appeared to have been no chance for frantic rushes up the steel ladders from the ship's bowels.

Several of the survivors were injured, a few critically. They are in the wallowing Wasp's sick bay and on the destroyer Rodman, not to be reached from my destroyer because of heavy seas. We received the alarm aboard the O'Hare while 50 miles from

Truman Appoints Clark C-in-C Far East Forces

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP)—Gen. Matthew Ridgway was appointed today to succeed General Eisenhower as supreme Allied commander in Europe.

President Truman announced at the same time the appointment of Gen. Mark Clark to succeed Ridgway as the United Nations commander in Korea and Commander in Chief of the United States armed forces in Far East.

Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther will continue as Chief of Staff to the Supreme Allied Commander in Europe. This is the post he has held under Eisenhower.

Truman said in a statement: "I have every confidence that Generals Ridgway and Gruenther will make an outstanding team for our common defense effort."

Ridgway's appointment and Eisenhower's release as Supreme Allied Commander will become effective approximately June 1.

Truman said he is continuing Gruenther as Chief of Staff "in accordance with Gen. Ridgway's desires."

Clark now is commander of army field forces at Fort Monroe, Va.

Truman said Clark will continue in the Far East "the policies which have been so ably carried out by Gen. Ridgway with regard to the United Nations action in Korea, including, if possible, the achievement of an honorable armistice."

TOKYO, April 29 (Tuesday) (AP).—Gen. Matthew Ridgway said today he is accepting appointment as Supreme Allied Commander in Europe "with full realization of the great task ahead of me."

Ridgway issued a statement in the early morning hours saying he was "honored" by the confidence shown in him by the appointment to succeed Gen. Eisenhower.

There was no dancing in the streets, but peace prayers were offered at shrines. Millions of Japanese flags—the rising sun on a white field—fluttered for the first time since the occupation began.

MARCH JOYFULLY
Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida called it a "magnanimous peace unparalleled in history."

He urged his people to "march joyfully, courageously and resolutely on the broad highway of peace and democracy."

Political leaders generally followed his lead. But the Communists were dour. They said today was one of "national humiliation . . . a blot on the nation's history that has never been seen before."

Full celebration of the conclusion of the peace agreement will be held Saturday.

For Japan it was a great day on the diplomatic front.

Nationalist China and India made peace with the 84,000,000 Japanese just as had the U.S., the United Kingdom, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, Pakistan and France.

Red China and Russia technically still were at war with Japan.

The Japanese ministry of foreign affairs said arrangements had been made with Belgium, Brazil, Ceylon, The Netherlands and Norway for the resumption of diplomatic relations. Missions will be exchanged with the Philippines and Indonesia.

ORANGES FLOATING ON THE SEA
176 Lose Lives as Mighty 'Wasp' Knives Through Destroyer Hobson

(The following account of the sinking of the destroyer Hobson in a mid-Atlantic collision with the aircraft carrier Wasp was written by Lawrence Dams, Boston Herald staff reporter, who was aboard another escorting destroyer.)

ABOARD U.S.S. O'HARE IN MID-ATLANTIC, April 27 (Delayed) (AP).—A tempestuous sea strewn with wreckage. Empty life-jackets rolling in an oil slick. The body of a chief petty officer tossed in the raging waters.

This was the scene minutes after the aircraft carrier Wasp knifed into the destroyer Hobson Saturday night, sending the comparatively-lightweight, converted minesweeper to the bottom with an estimated 176 of her crew.

The tragedy struck without warning on a rolling sea under faint stars and a black sky.

Most of the Hobson's men (believed to number 347) were trapped below decks. Many had never been at sea before. A watch of about seven men and possibly as many officers out of the 14 aboard had a chance to escape. There appeared to have been no chance for frantic rushes up the steel ladders from the ship's bowels.

Several of the survivors were injured, a few critically. They are in the wallowing Wasp's sick bay and on the destroyer Rodman, not to be reached from my destroyer because of heavy seas. We received the alarm aboard the O'Hare while 50 miles from the death scene after night plane manoeuvres had barely reached an end.

The planes that located us in the darkness came from the recently recommissioned Wasp, dropped flares and headed back for their ship's haven.

Suddenly observers saw what appeared to be a circle of light. Then debris, including oranges from the Hobson's food lockers, showed under our persistent lights.

Rescue crews lined the main weather decks of the destroyers. They held ropes, grapples, hooks, life-jackets, small lights and other rescue gear.

Indicative of the self-sacrificing spirit that spread through the flotilla when disaster struck, was the fact that 25 swimmers aboard the O'Hare volunteered to go into the waters before officers forbade it.

It was too late to do more than haul in empty life-saving gear and other floating debris.

The Wasp, responsible for the safety of planes still in the dark sky, put over all available rafts, jackets and boats before she got into a new position to take the last of her planes aboard.

Seaman Robert Otto Eisenach, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Bart Eisenach of Kenora, Ont., was among those listed as "tentatively missing."

The Hobson's records went down with the ship and there was no accurate way of knowing the exact complement. The department said it believed there were 14 officers and 223 men aboard.

HER MAJESTY QUEEN ELIZABETH

Ceremony Set In Busy Week

Thousands of Visitors Due in Britain
For Big Event at Westminster Abbey

LONDON, April 28 (CP)—The Queen announced tonight she will be crowned June 2, 1953.

A brief announcement from Buckingham Palace said: "The Queen has been pleased to appoint Tuesday, June 2, 1953, to be the day of Her Majesty's coronation."

Coronation day this will fall in Britain's greatest social week of 1953. The following Friday, June 5, the Queen's official birthday will be celebrated.

Elizabeth II became Queen Feb. 6, on the death of her father, King George VI.

She already has taken part in one coronation in Westminster Abbey. Her father, who became King Dec. 11, 1936, after the abdication of Edward VIII, was crowned there May 12, 1937.

The Queen's real birthday is April 21. She will be 27 on her next birthday, just a little more than a month before her coronation.

She has set June 5 for the official celebration of her birthday, following a custom set by her father.

Canada will celebrate the Queen's birthday June 9 under a custom whereby the birthday of a sovereign is celebrated on a Monday in June.

Other social events usually held in the first week of June include the famed derby, the trooping of the color and the military pageant known as the Royal Tournament. These may be postponed.

The coronation will come soon after the beginning of Britain's tourist season when the city normally is packed with visitors.

Apart from the official expense, millions of pounds will be spent during the week's festivities.

The coronation of a sovereign is essentially a simple religious service. But throughout the centuries many traditional ceremonies have been added until it has now become a long ritual symbolizing the whole of Britain's history from early Christian days.

The Duke of Norfolk, 44, hereditary earl marshal of England, is responsible for the planning of the coronation. It is a duty he first performed in 1937 at the coronation of King George VI.

Tonight, the Queen appointed a coronation commission of 36 representatives of the United Kingdom, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, Pakistan and Ceylon to help the duke in his task.

The Duke of Edinburgh will be chairman, with the Duke of Norfolk as deputy chairman.

M' Social Credit cousin sez he's goin' to rewrite th' geography book, startin' with 'Edmonton is th' capital o' British Columbia.'

I.W.A. figures on keepin' "B.C.'s annual cut" strictly wood, not wages.

See where one independent candidate is comin' out strong against "corruption." Guess he hates t' hear a lot o' argufylin'.

ON THE TIMES

By ART STOTT

I am limping today because the firm which waxes the floors in our office puts too high a gloss on them and because I watched the Royal Roads graduation on Friday.

On the parade ground I saw the cadets going through their drills. They were smart, but I couldn't help wondering why it was necessary to raise one foot high in the air and stamp it down to come to attention. The action is something like that of a youngster trying to drive his heel through thick ice to prove to on-lookers that the surface is strong enough for skating.

In the interests of enlightenment, I took it up with our office military authorities, asking: "Why do the cadets stamp the way they do?" And the authorities in our office asked: "How do you mean?"

A tried to demonstrate, raising my right foot about knee high and driving it down on the highly polished floor. Just then my other foot slipped. My leather heel, striking down, hit my left ankle. There isn't much skin on that ankle now.

While I was hobbling away to whimper in the privacy of my own office, the authorities were explaining that the style was taken from that of an English Guards regiment and from the American army drill procedure.

Frankly, I'm all against it. So's my left ankle.

Of course I shouldn't try to imitate the parade square routines. I'm not the type. I'm more of a shuffler with that kind of awkwardness that sends me crashing into doors and door jams when I try to make dignified exits.

Part of Discipline

There's a good argument for parade ground drill. It helps to develop discipline. A group of men, acting in concert, have to act in concert when an order is given to them. They can't afford to be like me, wondering which way to turn when somebody shouts "Right."

Just because I'm constitutionally an individualist, I'm not blind to the need for drill and discipline. And if it's necessary to bring a foot high in the air and stamp down to come to attention, well, it's better that I should skin my ankle doing it in the relative privacy of the newsroom than that one of the cadets should suffer the same way on parade.

It was cold watching the demonstration at Royal Roads, but there was a warming influence in the advice given to the graduating class by the inspecting officer.

"Remember," he told the members of the class, "that as officers you will have to treat your men with respect in order to gain their respect."

That unquestionably holds true among the services if for no other reason than that it holds true in any other association.

A top-flight newspaperman—I think it was the late Webb Miller—made a similar point in one of his books. As a young reporter he recalled his friendship with an outstanding personality on the American national scene. He admired the older man's ability to make friends and get along with people and wondered how he could overcome his own shyness, his own stumbling approach when he met so-called important personages. He asked the older man how he managed to be at ease in almost any group.

Influencing People

The older man explained that he liked people, and that he had found anyone who liked people was usually liked by them. A little friendliness, a little courtesy, he said, usually attracted a similar approach from strangers.

You listened to the inspecting officer's words to the graduating class and your mind ran back a year or two to the remarks of another distinguished officer who was at Friday's ceremony—Vice-Admiral E. R. Mainguy. When he was investigating conditions in the Canadian Navy, the admiral drew attention to the disadvantages of creating too wide a social gulf between officers and men.

You remembered that, being a Canadian, you were happy to hear the parallel advice on respect from the inspecting officer. You thought maybe it was more important than stamping to attention on the parade ground. And you felt you could practice it without nearly as much risk to your ankles.

Legality of Truman's Seizure Known Shortly

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP)—The great constitutional battle over President Truman's seizure of the steel industry roared on today—with Truman himself saying he had a right and duty to take over the mills.

The legal question was in the hands of Judge David A. Pine in a case brought by the steel industry to force the government to surrender the seized facilities.

Pine took the case under advisement last Friday. His ruling could come today, but may be delayed until Tuesday or Wednesday.

Truman, in correspondence released by the White House on Sunday night, appeared to take a narrower view of presidential powers than government lawyers did in arguments before Pine. He said executive powers are "limited, of course, by the provisions of the Constitution, particularly those that protect the rights of individuals." He said it was proper that the courts now are examining the legality of the situation, but that: "I feel sure that the Constitution does not require me to endanger our national safety by letting all the steel mills shut down in this critical time."

Truman's three-page letter was written to Charles S. Jones, a cattle raiser at Washington's Crossing, Pa. The White House made it public.

Jones, after listening to Truman's April 8 seizure broadcast to the nation, wrote a letter asking a series of questions.

Truman wrote that he'd picked the Jones letter out of "many hundreds" because he was "very

U.N. Offers Full Cease Fire Plan

MUNSAN, April 28 (AP)—The United Nations' command today gave the Communists what it called an "over-all solution" to the three critical issues blocking a Korean armistice.

Details were not disclosed. But the Communists, after agreeing to keep the full-dress negotiations secret, asked for an indefinite recess. Presumably, they want to submit the plan to Peiping and Pyongyang.

Brig-Gen. William P. Nuckolls, U.N. spokesman, said:

"The U.N. command feels that an over-all solution to the problem is possible and for that reason such an over-all solution was proposed today."

It was handed to the Communists at the first meeting of the main Allied and Communist armistice delegations in Panmunjom in more than two months.

Blocking progress in the 9½-month truce negotiations are the issues of prisoner exchange, nomination of Russia by the Communists as a neutral observer during any armistice, and a U.N. demand for restrictions on aerial construction.

Vice-Admiral C. Turner Joy, senior U.N. negotiator, proposed at the outset of the plenary session that the discussions be secret. This meant that there would be no announcement what takes place.

The Communists, after thinking it over, agreed.

The U.N. communiqué said:

"The U.N. command today proposed an over-all resolution for the remaining unresolved issues standing in the way of a military armistice in Korea."

Leaders Arrange Scout Conference

Scout and Cub leaders from Vancouver Island centres will gather here for a conference next week-end.

A dinner at St. John's Church Hall Saturday night will be followed by a discussion of scout and cub work and leaders' problems. The group will go to Camp Barnard at Sooke Sunday where a demonstration of practical outdoor work will be demonstrated. A regular camp dinner will be prepared and served by Rover Scouts of the Victoria district.

Field commissioner, James Watson of Vancouver will attend the conference.

Despite official secrecy, there was little doubt the prolonged talks had entered a new and perhaps decisive phase.

The next meeting will be called by the Communists. Meanwhile discussions at the staff-officer level were suspended.

North Korean Gen. Nam Il, top Communist negotiator, asked for the indefinite recess.

Butter is now selling at between 66 and 67 cents a pound, as compared with 69 and 70 cents a few weeks ago, it was reported today.

Retailers said the decrease is due to competition from colored margarine.

Prices on some beef cuts have also decreased between five and six cents during the past week as the result of the lifting of the livestock embargo between the province and Alberta.

INVESTIGATING—In Nelson, B.C., Royal Canadian Mounted Police said today they were investigating the possibility of Doukhobor arson in the burning of two barns at Thrums, B.C. The barns, owned by Peter Abrosimoff and George Popoff, burned down Saturday.

SLAIN—In Jakarta, Indonesia, fifty persons were killed in a clash between a 200-strong armed gang and the regular army in mid-Java, an army spokesman said today.

INDEPENDENT—A Russian trawler which ran aground in thick fog off Bornholm Island in the Baltic today declined offers of help and refused to give its name and port of registry.

Her skipper told Danish police and customs officials who visited her that he had radioed a message to another Soviet trawler which will come to his assistance. The trawler carried a crew of 23.

GLOOMY—In Summerland, B.C., Lloyd, general manager of British Columbia Tree Fruits Ltd., says the outlook for exporting apples to Great Britain was "never more gloomy" than today.

Lloyd told apple industry representatives that growers "have not given up hope" but are expecting the worst because Britain allowed its contracts for Canadian salmon and cheese to lapse.

FIRE—A flash fire caused $100,000 damage late Sunday night when it leveled a fox food processing factory in the northeastern section of Calgary. The blaze destroyed the mill factory owned by the Fur Feed Company of Alberta in less than an hour and a half.

Firemen were hindered in the effort by lack of hydrants and two tank units had to travel more than a mile with water from hydrants at the Union Packing Company to the scene of the fire at 14th Avenue.

Cause of the fire is unknown and nobody was injured.

DEATHS—A heavy outbreak of violent deaths marred the Pacific Northwest week-end.

A Monday count disclosed 15 deaths, eight from traffic accidents. Two men were killed by a train east of Eugene, Ore.; two suffocated from smoke in the Ilwaco, Wash., county jail; a farmer was pinned under a tractor and an Oregon logger was crushed Saturday under a load of logs. An 11-year-old Vancouver, Wash., boy was found hanged in the bathroom of his home.

Gifts Expand Facilities of City Library

An Eastman Recordak microfilm reader and three long-playing record albums are among recent "anonymous" gifts to the Victoria Public Library.

The new Recordak equipment will enable library workers to read documents on microfilm from various sources.

The long-playing record album gifts will aid in building a record reference collection.

The library hopes eventually to be able to give record concerts and keep a file of records for reference of musicians and others. The few records are not yet available for public borrowing.

The new gifts are: Mozart's Concerto No. 20 in D Minor, played by the Rochester Philharmonic with Jose Iturbi as pianist and conductor; music of Johann Strauss by Clemens Krauss and the Vienna Philharmonic; and Mendelssohn's "Midsummer Night's Dream," with Krauss conducting the Vienna Symphony and the chorus of the Vienna State Opera.

The library has also received two complete sets of the books of the late Nellie McClung, given in memory of the Victoria author.

Goodwill Tour Great Success Says Harrison

By BURKE CAHILL
Times Business Editor

Mayor Claude Harrison and 52 chamber of commerce officials and their wives returned to Victoria Sunday tired but triumphant after a whirlwind tour of 17 up-island towns from Shawnigan Lake to Campbell River.

The mayor of Vancouver Island, as Mr. Harrison is now called in many up-island centres, pronounced the goodwill visit a rousing success.

"The communities of Vancouver Island must form a solid front to get the best development of the island's tourist trade," said the mayor, "and we feel that our goodwill pilgrimage has achieved a much closer unity."

T. G. Denny, president of the Victoria chamber of commerce; Geoffrey Edgell, chairman of the tourist trade group; George I. Warren, head of the Victoria Public Bureau, and many other city representatives who took part in the tour, echoed the mayor's sentiments.

GREAT CIRCLE PLAN
On the final leg of the tour in the Comox district, Mayor Harrison made a fighting speech for a great-circle highway route on the island.

At a luncheon attended by Mayor Joseph Hitchen of Courtenay, Charles Knox of the Comox-Courtenay chamber of commerce and many other officials, Mayor Harrison advised the islanders to get up a petition for the circular route.

"Send it to Victoria," he said, "and we will raise the very devil there to help push it through." He said the island people deserve more support than they have been getting from the provincial government in public works and other island development.

Charles Knox of the Comox district chamber of commerce also plumped strongly for a road through from Alberni via the Beaver Creek valley. Such a route, he said, would enable tourists to visit all the island centres without having to go back over the same route.

UNBLEMISHED—The Norfolk, Mass., colony debating team today looked back on an unblemished season after defeating Holy Cross College of Worcester for its 10th straight victory against college debaters.

The prisoners—known only as Joseph and George—Sunday successfully argued the negative in a debate on repeal of the 22nd amendment to the U.S. constitution which limits the President to two terms in office.

Harvard and Williams each were twice beaten by the inmates, who also listed Oxford University of England and Columbia among the season's victims.

FOUND—Search planes today spotted seven British soldiers, lost for three days in the wastes of Egypt's Jordan Desert.

The soldiers, an officer and six other ranks, were standing beside their vehicle, a self-propelled anti-aircraft gun.

They became lost during manoeuvres and a khamseen—violent sandstorm—hindered the search during the last 48 hours.

R.A.F. planes left Fayid airfield at dawn this morning.

Middle East air force headquarters here announced the missing party had been located from the air in rough country surrounded by mountains. A land rescue party was on the way.

Lieut. Bailey was at the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph. Prior to sailing all will be sent to Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps school at Longue Point, near Montreal.

Others of the group include J. A. Pettigrew, Montreal; University of Toronto; L. Chittier, Humboldt, Sask.; Carleton College, Ottawa; from Ottawa University, G. R. Harper, Timmins; J. A. L. Cote, Quebec City and A. Peattie, Gatineau Mills, Que.

Sir Ernest MacMillan Retires After 'Shakeup'

TORONTO, April 28 (CP)—A proposed reorganization of Toronto's Royal Conservatory of Music has caused the retirement of Sir Ernest MacMillan as dean of the faculty of music at the University of Toronto.

In addition, Ettore Mazzoleni, principal of the conservatory, has resigned. Several other staff changes in the wake of the proposed shakeup are reported in prospect.

Sir Ernest said in a statement Sunday night he was relinquishing his post. The plan would abolish the university faculty and create a faculty of music at the conservatory, which has operated under direction of the university since 1921.

The conservatory's board of directors is scheduled to meet Wednesday to discuss the scheme, reported to have caused a rift among officials.

Also involved are Dr. Edward Johnson, former general manager of New York's Metropolitan Opera Company and now chairman of the conservatory's board of directors; Dr. Arnold Walter, director of the conservatory's senior school, and Dr. Sidney Smith, president of the university.

Sir Ernest, 58, said the reorganization would combine the Faculty of Music, the Royal Conservatory and the senior school under one head and under one budget. The conservatory then would consist of a faculty dealing with degree and advanced diploma courses and a school of music dealing with all other activities.

SOMEWHAT ONEROUS
The expansion in recent years of the faculty "had rendered the position of dean somewhat onerous to me in view of my many activities. I was therefore ready

They received their pilot's wings from Group Capt. H. G. M. Colpitts, commandant of the Canadian Joint Air Training Centre, Rivers, Man., at the R.C.A.F. station at Gimli, Man.

The successful trainees will proceed to Saskatoon, Sask., or Macdonald, Man., to begin the advance phase of their flying training.

P.O. Richards Bradley, Fort Qu'Appelle, Sask., was the winner of both the R.C.A.F. scroll of honor and junior challenge award, having attained the highest aggregate marks for ground school and the highest flying mark on his course.

The Liberal Convention

LAST WEEK'S CONVENTION IN Vancouver left the Liberal Party of British Columbia in an interesting condition. The policy advocated by Premier Johnson has been rejected and the policy advocated by Attorney General Wismer accepted.

This decision revolved around the proposed emasculation of the hospital insurance system. When the legislature met some weeks ago Mr. Johnson refused to repeal co-insurance because he knew it would damage and probably wreck the insurance scheme. On the threat of his resignation the Liberal caucus reluctantly accepted his views. It was no secret that Mr. Wismer disagreed with his leader and felt that the party could not win an election unless it smuggled more of the visible cost of insurance into the treasury at the expense of the taxpayers. The rest of the cabinet apparently agreed with Mr. Johnson and so did many private members.

When the convention met last week Mr. Johnson made his position quite clear. He agreed to eliminate insurance premiums for the poor and to waive co-insurance in these and maternity cases. That compromise, however, was not enough to suit those who were more interested in the election than the finances of the government.

When Mr. Johnson saw that a large part of the convention was against him, he delivered a courageous speech warning his party not to wreck the insurance scheme, flatly opposing the abolition of co-insurance and indicating that he could not support such a policy, which he considered unsound and dangerous.

Nevertheless, by a large, unrecorded majority, the convention voted to abolish co-insurance, without counting the cost, without paying the least attention to the expert advisers who had opposed this change, without a thought for the taxpayers.

It cannot be said that this was a vote of lack of confidence in Mr. Johnson since obviously the party regards him, and rightly, not only as its ablest figure but as its best chance of victory in the election. It remains true, however, that Mr. Johnson's basic policy was rejected while Mr. Wismer's was endorsed.

The natural and easiest course for any leader placed in such a position would be to resign. Mr. Johnson has refused to take the easy course. Knowing that his resignation would hopelessly split the party and assure its defeat at the polls, he has evidently decided to lead it through the election.

But it must be said in ordinary honesty that he is leading a party on a policy which has been publicly condemned in the most unequivocal terms, in which he does not believe and which he considers ruinous to the hospital insurance scheme. So far as we recall, our political history offers no parallel to this situation.

The views of this newspaper on the insurance scheme are well known and need not be repeated here in detail. We believe that Mr. Johnson and the experts are right, that the abolition of co-insurance will vastly increase the total cost of hospitalization by increasing the unnecessary use of hospitals, by crowding them and compelling the construction of more hospitals.

We believe, moreover, that in seeking to win an election by offering this bait the Liberal party has made a grievous mistake, which it will soon regret. And we believe that the party will see in due time where this course is leading. By then it may be too late.

In short, while the Liberal party may reverse itself at an excited convention, we see no reason to alter in the least the opinion already expressed here. Doubtless it is a minority opinion at the moment. That does not make it wrong. With Mr. Johnson and a large minority of the party, we still think it is right and that it will be proved right in the end.

The tragedy of the party convention is that it took no time to think through what it was doing or to heed its leader's warning. We doubt that many delegates understood what they were voting for. Certainly none of them could have reckoned the costs involved, for these are quite incalculable. The simple truth of these proceedings was stated by several delegates when they said that if the party wished to win an election it must abolish co-insurance. That was the sole reason for the reversal of Mr. Johnson's policy. Whether it will have the desired effect remains to be seen.

However, the struggle for control of the party's policy has not ended with the convention. It has only begun. A convention can lay down policy but only the legislature can make it.

The composition of the next legislature is unforeseeable and its opinion unknown.

It is difficult to imagine that a legislature which looks at the costs involved in abolishing co-insurance, which reads the "experts' advice," which considers the taxpayers, which is interested in attracting investment to British Columbia, will carry through the policy hastily adopted at a thoughtless political convention.

It is inconceivable that Mr. Johnson, or the cabinet ministers and private members who have supported him all through this struggle will vote for a policy which they have publicly condemned. No candidate for office can be compelled to do that. No honest man will vote for what he believes to be and has publicly pronounced wrong.

It is not too late to hope, therefore, that if the Liberal party wins the election it will show more wisdom in office than it has shown in convention. And the best assurance of that is the honest figure of Mr. Johnson, still at the head of the party and still unchanged in his views.

Goal in Sight

TWO YEARS AGO, WHEN DEFENSE Minister Claxton announced a recruiting program for the armed services designed to put 15,000 men into uniform in 1953, the prophets of gloom were many. Voluntary enlistment, it was said, could never provide the required numbers. Modern youth would not respond to patriotic pleas.

The prospect of foreign service no doubt has aided the recruiting officials in presenting their case to prospective enlistees. Korea, the German contingent, the fighter squadrons in Britain and overseas action for naval units have all combined to add interest for servicemen.

But it is only justice to add, too, that the young men of this country are alive to modern issues and the part that Canada must play in them. They have seen the need, recognized the opportunity and acted accordingly. Let that not be forgotten in any future appraisals.

'Take Me Out to the Ball Game'

A FEW MONTHS AGO, VICTORIANS, big and little, pooled resources to "Save Baseball" in this town. The successful effort gave this city's entry in the Western International League the financial transfusion it needed.

It will stay alive, however, only if it draws the support from the public a W.I.L. club requires. That means that Victorians can retain professional baseball only if they give the "Tyees" wholehearted backing where it is needed—at the ticket wicket.

Several arguments can be presented in favor of professional baseball here. The higher calibre of play provided by such a team furnishes a standard to encourage boys playing in the junior divisions. A club like the Tyees brings its share of publicity to Victoria not only in the other northwest towns where it plays, but also in those centres which carry press accounts of the games and the nightly box scores. Over and above that, it supplies an entertainment need shared by thousands of our people.

This year the club's manager, Cecil Garriott appears to be in charge of a hustling team that will respond to his demands for the best performance the players can give.

When the campaign was held to rescue the Victoria entry from its financial decline, about 2,500 citizens furnished support. The spirit shown on that occasion should return this city to its high rating in the box-office standings.

The team was saved for Victoria. It's up to Victoria to show its appreciation.

Fair Share for the Fair Sex

DR. EDITH SUMMERSKILL, FORMER Labor Party minister and a member of the British Parliament since 1938, proposes a bill which would give wives the legal right to a share of their husband's income. The measure would take the place of the present general legal responsibility on the part of the husband to support his wife.

The bill would force employers to deduct the wife's share from each pay envelope and send it to her direct. In this Dr. Summerskill, a wife herself, appears to have lost touch, possibly through her medical or political interests, with the generality of wives. For far from welcoming the bill as a measure designed to assure them a set percentage of the weekly pay envelope, a large number of wives are going to see it as a restriction of their usual practice of appropriating all of it.

Like any right, the wife's perquisite of handling family finances may suffer limitation as well as achieve a guarantee when set down in black and white. Dr. Summerskill's proposal is likely to please no one, except, perhaps, bachelors.

Chips Off The Old Brock

By DAVID BROCK

LAST WEEK we mentioned some richly bad home-made Canadian verse. It was "Where Lulu wears her stubble head" . . . meaning Lulu Island. I've got lots more Canadian poetry like that.

If you want to hear some. I don't mean plain verse. Not thin gruel at all, but the thick brown soup of poetry that you could stand a spoon up in, and which you could wake up screaming. There's a good supply in Canada, if you know where to look for it. I've never managed to get a copy of that volume with the epic about the Ss. Titanic in it, but I've held a copy in my hands and know where to steal it when the moon is right. The cock and others have quoted its best line. Let us quote it again. After describing the horrible agony of that great ship and the humans who were drowned or in deadly peril of drowning, the author winds up with:

"Oh! what an awful night they had The night the ship went down!" To which the only possible answer seems: "You can say that again, Mac."

IN MY OWN collection there is a poem about an iceberg. It was written by a Mr. Joseph J. Heskett, the Shoemaker Poet. Heskett's berg was not responsible for the Titanic, or at least wouldn't admit it. But it did admit a certain hardness of heart and frankly boasted that it laughed at beauty . . . as all too many icebergs do. In conclusion, however, this iceberg somewhat unreasonably grumbles:

"And yet, too oft I am misjudged, For men my character have smudged And thought that I had power alone. Without one grace which would atone For all the countless groans and ills Resulting from my icy chills."

I have never smudged a single iceberg in my life, but that is probably because I haven't caught any key chills from one.

THIS HESKETT was a great enemy of what he calls alcohol. He can't even see a field of barley without shuddering:

"Barley for beer, that makes men queer And fight in snarley parley."

I expect there'll be many a snarley parley before the plebiscite, but not all our poets will employ this memorable phrase. Or even use the striking grammar of the following:

"No alcohol, man's deadly foe, Should ever in the stomach go. 'Tis never found in nature's drinks And even wild beasts from it shrink."

Wild beasts don't really shrink from it, of course. Drunken bears and elephants are commonplace, and even the dicky-birds will willingly get lit as fireflies. But it's grand poetry all the same.

THERE'S not much room for Mr. Heskett here. I'd like to tell you about the one on a baby's nose, which said this nose was slender, yet quite waterproof, and kept out water like tiled roof; one pillar was its chief support, and yet it looked strong as a fort. (So help me.) A most remarkable nose even in a grown-up. And about the one called "Why Whip Wives?" But there's just room for this:

"My father oft was asked by gent To pay a pig-sty yearly rent. When he refused, gent said they'd pull Down flat his small well-kept pig-hull."

To call a sty a pig-hull is a little miracle; and if you say that last line over very fast you can almost hear the nails pulling out and the timbers snapping as gent pulls 'er down.

RATHER than take too much of this rich diet at one meal, I think we should nibble at a savory, in the shape of two lines, and then quit till another time. The passage was written by an Ottawa dentist whose name I forget. It occurs in a poem about a barber who told the poet, while cutting his hair, about a mother cat who so far forgot herself as to eat her young. The whole poem is wonderfully funny, though the barber and poet thought not. But the finest bit, by far, is this:

"And the remnants of a furry tail Went down a furry throat."

YOU'D THINK a barber would know that the fur is on the outside of a throat, and a dentist would know what the inside of a throat looks like. Of course, if that mother cat had been a heavy smoker, the inside of her mouth might have been a little furry, and if she inhaled, the same might be true of her windpipe. But she didn't swallow the smoke, surely, and thus get a fur-lined gullet. Well, this poetry for you . . . stranger than fiction.

ALWAYS THINKING OF OTHERS

I'VE RECEIVED a folder from a loan company. They want to lend me money. "The company that likes to say Yes," they call themselves. "We LIKE to make loans," they tell me. Are they trying to pose as eccentrics, for Pete's sake? And all for a measly 12 per cent, or whatever it works out at. Incredible. They've gone all soft. Been reading Orphan Annie, or something. Well, I like saying No. I'm not going to have all the chivalry on their side.

PROGRESS

BACK in what seems some year B.C. The butcher gave me sweetbreads free. Time marches on, you say? You said it! His gifts grow: now he gives me credit.

Source of Mystery

Ottawa Citizen

For more than five years, the Conservative Party in Britain eagerly sought office. Now it has it. It also has a slump in the textile industry, with more than 70,000 unemployed; an economic crisis that has compelled it to impose fresh austerities on the British public; and a severe setback in the recent local elections. Despite such harassment able men still seek office. This makes them a source of mystery and wonder to most of their fellow men, and of hope for the future of democracy.

ALTERNATIVE VOTE

After studying the pamphlet "Alternative Voting," in explanation of the counting of ballots, it does not seem very clear as to what happens in the case of one's failure to choose, in their respective order, all of the candidates. It is quite conceivable that some voters would prefer not to choose some candidate or party at any price; this would leave a blank instead of a choice number. Would it not be much better and safer to allow a mark such as N.C. (no choice), or N.V. (no vote) to be used instead of leaving a blank space? This mark could very well be used in the case of a "plump" vote also, and would eliminate all possibility of temptation of tampering with the ballot.

PORTAGE INLET PROJECT

I would like to heartily endorse the very excellent letter sent to your paper by Mrs. Mary Fox Gladding. I am a resident of this very charming subdivision also; having purchased one-half acre in 1941, for exactly the same reason as Mrs. Gladding—because we wanted to enjoy the peaceful surroundings within easy reach of town.

During the last 10 years some delightful homes have been built and I cannot see why the beauty and peace of the neighborhood should be blighted by the erection of what can only be an eyesore!

To my knowledge, no one has been approached as to whether they are in favor of this project, which seems to me to have a decided flavor of dictatorship.

Except for an emergency created by war I was not aware that any group or syndicate, however wealthy, had the right or power to turn people out of their homes. Where is the vaunted freedom? As a project it is very wonderful, but not to the detriment of a pretty residential area.

Why not put it out in the country, as in any event, people will have to reach it by car, thereby eliminating both disturbance and smell.

JAPANESE FISHING TREATY

I have noted two editorials of yours recently in respect to the above:

(1) "No Bites on the Party Line."
(2) "Fisheries Lesson From Canada."

In respect to the vicious nature of your first editorial, smearing all opposition to this very dangerous treaty as following the Communist party line, do you not think it is time that you retracted some of those statements in view of the fact that Canadian labor on the national basis have backed up at Ottawa the contentions of the West Coast fishermen?

No vilification of opposition to this treaty can conceal the fact that United States fishermen are not barred from fishing anywhere from the icecap in the Antarctic to the ice fields in the Arctic. Canadians are barred from fishing approximately from the southern border of Alaska to the north.

Japanese are barred from fishing in the Alaska and Bering Sea area and certain species in territorial waters of B.C., but in view of the expanse of these waters, who is going to stop them from taking all species?

What punishment will Japanese courts mete out to their offending nationals, if caught, when they will be only carrying out their own national instructions: "Go out and get American dollars."

It is noted that the Japanese have nearly two million fishermen. Note that in comparison with the population of B.C. Even if only one-tenth of them came to the West Coast, 200,000, add that to our own fleet, which is already over-fishing our own waters.

I was born in B.C. and have been fishing off-shore for nearly 20 years and have a reasonable knowledge of the industry. Perhaps I am foolish but I would hesitate to migrate east to tell a publisher that he has no rights to complain over a situation in respect to newsprint in that area.

We do not fear competition from the regular American fishing fleet but the threat of big trawlers with processing and reduction plants aboard, with the added threat of Japanese crews is something that is entirely different. If you have any intelligence you should see through that one.

As for the American troubles in the Gulf of Mexico, Truman had previously pronounced the theory that all waters off the United States coastline were territorial waters up to the distance necessary for their protection and conservation of sea crops. That, of course, is a two-edged sword and Mexico adopted the theory when exceptionally rich shrimp fisheries were discovered off the coast of Mexico.

Now the United States are insisting that for all other nations territorial waters only extend to the three-mile limit. How can these variant attitudes be justified to the Japanese? It is only too true that politics make strange bed fellows.

After the American experience at Pearl Harbor and the Japanese mandated Islands of the South Pacific after the First World War which were all turned into fortresses in view of the full international record of faithlessness and utter unreliability of the Japanese government, how can our Canadian government justify this treaty with the Japanese?

KNOWLEDGE NEEDED

I have seen foot-and-mouth disease and infected animals becoming healthy again. I have read about R.C.M.P. officers shooting diseased animals with "high-powered" rifles but I have seen butchers killing cattle with 22-calibre guns.

Today I saw a crippled elderly man buying roadside weeds (geum macrophyllum) thinking that he was buying a gay plant (geum splendens). A pitiful sight.

Many a householder I have given aid in pointing out that he had bought "hemlock" or "balsam" instead of the "fir" he ordered as firewood.

I find it amusing but costly to the public.

No Faith In Russia's Offer

By JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP
From Washington

SECRETARY of State Dean G. Acheson has just told an astonishingly uninterested country about one of the major choices in American postwar diplomacy. To be sure, he did not indicate this was what he was doing. But this was what he did, none the less, when he dismissed the whole so-called "peace offensive" as mere malicious trouble-making. In his speech, before the American Society of Newspaper Editors.

Beyond much doubt, the fact that this great American choice centered around Germany was the major influence in the final decision.

Almost since taking office, Secretary Acheson has labored to integrate Western Germany into the European community, first with the economic instrument of the Schuman Plan; and second with the strategic instrument of the European army.

A German contribution to western defense has been one of Acheson's primary objectives since the outbreak of the Korean war. And in theory at least, Acheson's months and years of painful and toilsome negotiations are now about to bear fruit, in the form of agreement on all these projects and on West Germany's substantive independence.

Precisely because the end of Acheson's efforts seemed so near, the Kremlin tried to nip the fruit in the bud, by suggesting that Eastern Germany and Western Germany might after all be reunited. The price, the Kremlin said, was simply abandonment of all the arrangements already made, especially including the West German contribution to western defense.

In the outcome the decision was taken which Secretary Acheson has now revealed. The whole process of diplomacy with the Kremlin, on the off-chance gamble that the Kremlin may really have been willing to reunite Germany, is now to be subordinated.

The plans to establish German independence, to create a German army, and to obtain a German defense contribution to the west, are now to have absolute first priority. In the state department it is said that the agreements on these projects may well be signed by May 20.

The story cannot end there, however. In the first place, the signing of the agreements must be followed by their ratification, by the German and French parliaments among other law-making bodies.

Already there are hints, again from the East, German, stooges, who generally telegraph the Kremlin's German moves, that the present phase of sweet peacefulness may be succeeded by a phase of naked terrorization.

The Kremlin line will be that a peace offer has been rejected by the western powers, and that arming the West Germans is a war-like act. Every effort will be made to exploit the German disappointment at the lost hope of unity, and to play on the fears of all of Europe of a Soviet attack.

In the second place, Acheson's summary dismissal of the Soviet peace offensive probably means the end, for the time being, of the recently raised hopes of a settlement in Korea. For why should the Kremlin approve the wind-up of the Korean hostilities, except as bait for broader negotiation of East-West problems?

Finally, there is the central question. If it is useless to negotiate now (as it may well be), when will East-West negotiations ever be worth the bother? In many ways, the raising of this question is the most troubling aspect of this choice revealed by Secretary Acheson, the wisdom of which is certainly supported by most of the short-run arguments.

Ups and Downs

By BRIAN TORIN

"CONSCIENCE," said the Elevator Man, "is quite an elastic thing. With some people, it can be stretched to almost any length required. With others it can be compressed. It will give and give and give, getting stiffer all the time, till finally the point arrives when it can't be squeezed any further. When it gets that solid, it will hold the line. For most of us, I guess, it's a matter of finding out just where that point is—the point where the rubber ends and the iron starts. Going down!"

"Rubber," said the Elevator Man, "toughens up with age, but the conscience doesn't have to wait so long. It responds to encouragement, willpower, religious support, and a broadening of the vision. But it can also get lonely and aulk. If you don't listen when it speaks, sooner or later its voice grows weak. From shouting it descends to talking, from talking to murmuring, from murmuring to whispering, and then it may become completely mute. All it can give you at the best of times is advice, and that's not a welcome gift for most folks. The conscience is patient, though. It will stand for a certain amount of argument, and even let you think you're winning. But then at the last it goes feminine on you. It says in effect, 'I admit everything you've said is logical and correct, but I still know I'm right.' There isn't much argument to that, but you may have to be all alone some dark stormy night before you admit it. Lower main!"

"Sometimes," said the Elevator Man, "we try to twist conscience to agree with us. We make it appear that conscience is on our side. And then it may be quite a while before the truth out. With practice you can keep it hidden all your life. You're like the wife who bought an expensive dress after promising not to. 'The devil tempted me,' she said. 'Why didn't you say, "Get thee behind me, Satan!" asked the husband. 'I did,' says the woman, 'and then he whispered over my shoulder, "My dear, it fits you just beautifully at the back..."'

Canada has always been one of the most air-minded countries in the world, and in these trying days of half-war and half-peace the work of the Air Cadet League takes on greater importance and assumes more responsibility than even its sponsors wish for. Like everybody else, they would like to devote their efforts to peaceful pursuits, but the league finds itself, in addition to providing training in basic good citizenship and contributing to Canadian aviation in general, once more creating that large reserve of soundly trained young men on whom all would depend so heavily in emergency.

Newsdealer's Daughter in Carnegie Hall

TORONTO (CP)—A dream came true recently for a Toronto newsdealer whose main ambition for years has been to see his pianist daughter make her debut at Carnegie Hall in New York.

Oscar Albert, who has sold newspapers and magazines for 35 years in front of the Canadian Pacific Railway building at King and Yonge Streets in downtown Toronto, watched with his wife from a box in the famous concert hall while 20-year-old Muriel Albert played before 1,200 persons.

The audience called her back for three encores. The critics were enthusiastic.

Among the bouquets backstage was one sent from Toronto by the Newsboys' Association, together with a telegram of congratulations.

There were other wires as well. They came from many of the persons who work in the C.P.R. building and who often stop to ask Oscar Albert about his daughter's musical career. On the Big Night, they added their good wishes.

The Alberts first recognized musical gifts soon after she was three years old and teachers told them she had a sense of absolute pitch. Their decision to give her training in piano meant years of sacrifice and self-discipline on their part to further their only child's musical development.

In 1949 when she made her Toronto debut, Oscar Albert turned up at the downtown auditorium without his shirt studs. When her next big concert came along, a laundry sent him the wrong collars for his dress shirt.

For her Carnegie Hall debut, the father played it safe. "I'll wear my navy blue suit and white shirt," he told Mrs. Albert. And he did.

MEET THE GAL FRIENDS

2 Women Stowaways Confound Officials

GUAM, April 28 (Monday) (AP) — Two women stowaways who traveled the 6,000 miles from California to Guam in an air force B-29 finally gave themselves up because they couldn't find even a grass shack to live in on this far Pacific island. But they don't want to go home. "It's wonderful," exclaimed Jerie McDaniel, 26, Walnut Grove, Calif. "We would like to stay and work if they would let us," said her companion, Maxine Allen, 23, Tacoma, Wash. Both are in custody of immigration officials. How do two women travel to the far reaches of the Pacific in a Superfortress as unpaying guests of the air force? Well, it takes a bit of doing and it doesn't hurt if you know a couple of guys. The Air Force was holding two airmen for investigation. This is the story the girls told: They donned flying togs and hid last week in the rear of the plane at McClellan field, Sacramento. Their gear, stuffed into pillow cases, was stowed away in the plane's bomb bay. At Hickam Air Base, Hawaii, they remained hidden overnight aboard the plane. At tiny Kwajalein, busy air crossroads in the Marshall Islands, they slipped down to the beach and washed in the warm tropical waters. En route to Guam, they shared box lunches with their two airmen friends. They slipped off the plane at Guam with their friends. But Guam didn't pan out as an idyllic Pacific island. It is too civilized and crowded for grass shacks. And empty houses or quonset huts weren't to be had. Authorities were dumbfounded when the four surrendered Saturday.

50,000 Italian Fascists Jeer Democracy and Reds

ROME, April 28 (AP) — Fascism's followers massed 50,000 strong in the heart of Rome Sunday to jeer at Democracy and Communism in a scene, unduplicated since Allied armies overthrew Mussolini. "Rescue Rome from the incompetence of the Christian Democrats and the barbarism of the 'Tartar hordes of Communism,'" shouted Augusto de Marsanich, veteran of the 1922 black shirt march on Rome. He spoke hands on hip, apeing Mussolini's mannerism. Applause roared up from the followers of his openly pro-Fascist Italian social movement (M.S.O.) jammed into the Piazza del Popolo. The Pro-Fascist meeting high-

Conservatives Prepare for Policy Parley

VANCOUVER, April 28 (CP) — All Progressive-Conservative candidates chosen so far at nominating conventions will be present when the party meets here this week to complete its platform for the June 12 B.C. general election, a spokesman said Sunday night. In all, he estimated, 250 representatives will attend the meeting which opens Tuesday morning with a meeting of the policy committee. This conference, which will be closed, is expected to last all day and will "fix the platform's final framework." "Point-by-point" debate will open at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday. Meeting chairman Tom McDonald said the conference is not designated as a convention, but as the regular quarterly executive meeting of the B.C. Progressive-Conservative Association which, representatives, not delegates, will attend. Of these, approximately 24 will be candidates already chosen to contest individual ridings. Herbert Anscomb, provincial Progressive-Conservative leader, will speak Wednesday night. Mag. Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C., Progressive-Conservative member of parliament for Nanaimo, will be chairman of the meeting. Longest trip by a candidate will be the journey from the northern constituency of Atlin by Thomas S. Mackay.

'SIEGFRIED' LINE BUILT IN KOREA

Intend Remaining, Training in Korea

TOKYO, April 28 (AP) — The Communists are building and improving a crude "Siegfried Line" across Korea and show every intention of maintaining "a strong position" on the embattled peninsula, Allied general headquarters said Sunday. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's headquarters announced this official analysis as armistice talks at Panmunjom, Korea, reached a critical stage. The report estimated Communist troop strength now at "well over 750,000 men," most of them Chinese. More than half the estimated Red air force of 1,500 planes are jets, it added.

This build-up during 9½ months of truce negotiations does not yet pose a threat to United Nations forces, the army said, but demonstrates that the Communists "intend to maintain a strong position in Korea." Despite Allied air superiority, the report said, the Communists have been able to shift troops, keep front-line supplies flowing and maintain troop training. Troop changes have not "in themselves indicated offensive intention," the report said, but have "demonstrated the ability of the enemy to move armies into and out of the line without suffering casualties." Significantly the report observed: "The Communists have taken further advantage of the inactivity of the last nine months to build a belt of defensive positions across the present front lines. These fortifications are somewhat crude in construction when compared with the Siegfried line; nevertheless, improvement continues with each passing day. Bunkers have been heated and in many instances are well stocked with food and ammunition."

'Torch' Forces Promise Action

CAPETOWN, April 28 (AP).—The Torch Commando warned Prime Minister Malan today it will meet "action with action" if his Nationalist regime moves against it, or illegally tampers with the Union's constitution.

Leaders of the 175,000-strong veterans' group—formed with the avowed aim of unseating Malan's white supremacy government—announced after a two-day council they are ready to fight to the end to save "this dictatorship-threatened country."

In a blunt statement, the Torchmen said: "We are determined to preserve... our democratic way of life and rule of law—come what may."

Commando leaders had assembled here from the Union's four provinces to discuss how they can stop Malan's regime from putting through a bill turning all the members of the Senate and Assembly into a Supreme Court to judge whether parliamentary acts are constitutional.

The bill, which passed its first reading last Wednesday, was Malan's answer to the Appeals (Supreme) Court which threw out his law restricting voting rights of colored persons of mixed blood—in the Cape Province.

Full debate on the controversial bill begins in Parliament Wednesday.

The statement also said the Torch group is ready to meet "any eventualities of government action." Commando leaders believe the Nationalists may try to create incidents that would lead to a crackdown against opposition groups. Malan already has claimed the Torch Commando is tinged with Communism and that its activities border on the illegal. His government is known to have pondered abandoning the group under the Suppression of Communism Act.

Informants said during their conference the Torchmen laid down a three-point plan of action to resist the government's moves:

THREE-POINT PLAN

1. Fighting the government constitutionally by rousing the public through country-wide rallies in the hope of putting Malan on the skids in the 1953 general election.

2. Meeting "unconstitutional action" by unconstitutional means. These means were not disclosed but it was stressed they would stop short of civil war—unless the other side starts one.

3. Resisting "any move by the government against the Torch Commando" even if this means going underground.

Whether the Torchmen have means of backing up these warnings remains to be seen. They have denied Nationalist charges they are plotting a putsch or that they are stockpiling weapons in case of civil strife here. Apparently, they are thinking in terms of less drastic action, such as organizing national protest days.

GROUP CAPT. A. G. MALAN and passive resistance campaigns, all of which could paralyze the country's economy.

The two main Torch leaders are Group Capt. A. G. (Sailor) Malan, Second World War ace, and Louis Kane-Burman, field officer who served in the Middle East and Italy during the war.

TALLEST SPIRES
The world's highest cathedral spires are those of Ulm Cathedral, 529 feet, and Cologne Cathedral, 512 feet, both in Germany.

Toronto Peace Meeting Said Red-Inspired

MONTREAL, April 28 (CP).—Police said Saturday that 75 men and women members of alleged "Communist front" organizations, have orders to recruit 1,200 persons from Quebec province to attend the "Toronto Peace Congress" May 9-11.

A spokesman for the police anti-subversive squad said the orders were given Friday night at a meeting in a St. Lawrence Boulevard hall. The group designated themselves as "Ligue des Locataires" (Tenants' League) in renting the hall but are known, police said, as members of the Montreal Peace Council, labelled by police as a Red-inspired organization.

Police said Danielle Dionne, whom they identified as an executive on the provincial committee of the Labor-Progressive party, and Helen Hall, secretary of the Peace Council, joined with foreign-born leaders of various groups in urging those present to solicit funds and people for the Toronto meeting.

When police entered the hall the group gave up their planned speeches and broke out into loud singing.

More than 6,000 compositions have been credited to Hans Sachs, the German shoemaker-poet who died in 1576.

Sorry to Leave Canada, Says Juliana, Departing

OTTAWA, April 28 (CP).—Queen Juliana bid a reluctant farewell to Canada Sunday night as she and her husband, Prince Bernhard, sped for Holland by plane.

"I am very sorry to leave Canadian soil," the queen said. "I had wonderful days here, full of real Canadian hospitality."

On hand to bid her goodspeed was the Governor-General, Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey; Gen. H. D. G. Crerar, who commanded the first Canadian army overseas during the Second World War, and Lt. Gen. Charles Faulkes, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff.

External Affairs Minister Pearson arrived late for the farewell ceremonies. Airport officials were just about to pull away the plane ramp when he hurried up and dashed into the four-engine aircraft to say a few parting words to the Royal couple.

The chartered aircraft, named

"Utrecht," took off in the evening, ending a month-long North American visit. Prince Bernhard spent the month in the United States. Queen Juliana was in Canada for the final week, visiting Dutch immigrants and renewing wartime friendships.

Prince Bernhard arrived at Up-lands, after a 90-minute delay in take-off from New York, caused by New York air traffic congestion. The queen greeted him at the runway with a kiss.

They were guests at the R.C. A.F. officers' mess, where hors d'oeuvres, shaped into Dutch wind mills, wooden shoes and tulips, were served.

Hundreds of spectators, including scores of Dutch-Canadians, gathered at the airport to cheer and wave to the Royal couple.

They waved white handkerchiefs, shouted "Long live the queen" in Dutch and gave the Royal couple three rousing cheers.

Ancient Ritual Honors New Bishop of Yukon

The laying on of hands by two archbishops and nine bishops elevated Rev. Tom Greenwood, of Yellowknife, as a bishop of the Church of England in Canada at a Sunday service here.

Bishop Greenwood was consecrated as Bishop of Yukon Diocese at a morning ceremony at Christ Church Cathedral.

The consecration followed the ancient procedure set forth in the Anglican prayer book. It was the first time such a ceremony had been witnessed here since Most Rev. Harold E. Sexton was consecrated as Bishop of Columbia in 1906.

It was significant, too, in that Bishop Greenwood is the first Yukon Bishop named since the Yukon Diocese was brought into the jurisdiction of the Ecclesiastical Province of British Columbia. Until recently, it was part of the Province of Rupert's Land.

Close to 30 robed clergymen took part in the solemn procession which marked the beginning of the ancient rite. Adding color were white surpliced choir members, red-robed servers and white-wigged, black-gowned diocesan officials.

Very Rev. Cecil Swanson, dean and rector of Christ Church Cathedral, Vancouver, in his sermon from the pulpit referred to the event as a historic occasion.

OLD FORMALITIES

The bishop-elect was brought before Archbishop Harold Sexton, Metropolitan of the province, in clerical garb, then retired to don the white-frilled, sleeved rochet worn by bishops, and then retired a second time to put on the rest of the Episcopal habit required before consecration.

As is the custom, the congregation of the church sat as a trial body as the bishops present charged the bishop-elect with his responsibilities.

"This is a true saying," it was read from the Prayer Book, "if a man desire the office of a bishop, he desireth a good work. A bishop then must be blameless, the husband of one wife, vigilant, sober, of good behaviour, given to hospitality, apt to teach; not given to wine, no striker, not greedy of filthy lucre; but patient, not a brawler, not covetous; one that ruleth well his own house, having his children in subjection with all gravity.

WARNED OF SNARES

"For if a man know not how to rule his own house, how shall he take care of the Church of God?"

"Not a novice, lest being lifted up with pride he fall into condemnation of the devil. Moreover, he must have a good report of them which are without; lest he fall into reproach and the snare of the devil."

Archbishop Sexton conducted the required examination of the bishop-elect.

"Brother, forasmuch as the holy Scripture and the ancient Canons command we should not be hasty in laying on hands, and admitting any person to government in the Church of Christ, which He hath purchased with no less price than the effusion of His own blood; before I admit you to this administration, I will examine you in certain articles, to the end that the congregation present may have a trial, and bear witness, how you minded to behave yourself in the Church of God."

After his trial, Rev. Greenwood knelt, and through the custom of succession all bishops present came forward to place a right hand on his head. He arose a bishop.

Following this, Mrs. Greenwood was ushered forward from the congregation and the two took Communion.

CHILDREN WATCH

Their children, David, 15, Michael, 12, and Sally, 7, watched intently from their seats. Another daughter, Mary Ellen, two-and-one-half, was not present for the consecration.

As Bishop of Yukon, Bishop Greenwood will reside henceforth in Whitehorse.

Born in Luddenden, Yorkshire, 49 years ago, the new bishop has served most of his church life in Canada's far north.

Among the 10 who participated in the consecration were two former Yukon bishops, Most Rev. Walter R. Adams and Rt. Rev. A. H. Sovereign. Others besides the Metropolitan, were Rt. Rev. H. R. Ragg, retired bishop of Calgary; Rt. Rev. Godfrey P. Gower, bishop of New Westminster; Rt. Rev. Frederick Clarke, bishop of Kootenay; Rt. Rev. Frederick Stanford, bishop of Cariboo; Rt. Rev. J. R. Gibson, bishop of Columbia; Rt. Rev. Benjamin D. Dagwell, bishop of Oregon; and Rt. Rev. Conrad Gressner, bishop coadjutor of South Dakota.

Among high-ranking churchmen witnessing the ceremony were Joseph O'Riillion, from Oregon, and Archdeacon C. H. Bradshaw, from Cariboo.

'RED MILL' CHARMING

Sparkling Victor Herbert Music Highlights Comedy

The merry, song-filled story of two down-at-the-heel Americans who, stranded in Holland, get involved in a Dutch love triangle will be told when the Victoria Gilbert and Sullivan Society presents Victor Herbert's popular "Red Mill" at the Royal Theatre next month.

With almost 70 persons taking part, the show promises to provide fast-moving entertainment. Night performances will be given May 15, 16 and 17 with a special matinee performance for Greater Victoria high school pupils on May 17.

Advance ticket sales for the evening performances are reported to be strong. Last year's performance of "H.M.S. Pinafore," presented by the same company, was sold out before the show opened.

Entire proceeds from the "Red Mill" will be used by the Victoria Gyo Club, sponsoring organization, to aid the blind citizens of Victoria.

Michael Francis is director of the show with Harry Bigsby, musical director, and Wynne Shaw in charge of dance routines.

Tigers on Road Back

Score Double Shutout; Cincinnati Takes Pair

Bosom-buddies Art Houtteman and Ted Gray have put Detroit Tigers back on the right track.

Tigers still are on the fringe of last place in the American League today but they don't expect them to hover in that vicinity long.

Detroit's resurgence began behind closed doors in the visitor's dressing room at Chicago's Comiskey Park Wednesday.

Tigers, smarting from eight straight defeats, were reported to be at odds with manager Red Rolfe.

Fred Hutchinson, veteran pitcher and player representative, called the players together and chased Rolfe out of the room.

The result was a rousing vote of confidence for Rolfe.

Houtteman and Gray have demonstrated emphatically that the Tigers meant what they said.

Hard luck Art launched the comeback drive Saturday with a spectacular 13-0 one-hit victory over Cleveland Indians.

Gray followed his roommate's feat with a 1-0 six-hit triumph over the tough Tribe Sunday.

The victories were doubly sweet for the Tigers. Last year the Indians captured 17 out of 22 games from Detroit. This season Cleveland won its first four meetings with Tigers.

Rain curtailed activity in both leagues.

BROWNS NIPPED
Chicago White Sox cooled off St. Louis Browns in the only other action in the American League. White Sox tripped the Browns 7-6 in 14 innings in the opener of a doubleheader.

The Sox led the Browns 3-1 in the second game which was called after five innings because of darkness.

Surprising Cincinnati Reds snatched their second-place tie with Chicago in the National League by beating Pittsburgh in a twin bill 8-2 and 1-0, while Cubs won a single game from St. Louis Cardinals 6-3.

Ken Raffensberger breezed to his third straight victory in the opener for Cincinnati.

ROOKIE BLOWS
Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell, highly publicized Canadian rookie, held the Cubs to three hits in seven innings but blew up in the eighth and yielded four runs.

Frank Baumholtz, the league's top batter, clobbered the rally with a three-run double.

Lefty Joe Hatten, usually an easy target for the Cards, scattered nine hits to post his second victory of the season, and his sixth in 20 lifetime decisions over St. Louis.

Padres Hold Slight Lead In Coast Baseball Race

San Diego's perch atop the Pacific Coast League standings looks about as secure as a small branch in a high wind.

The Padres came close to falling Sunday, but a couple of timely homers by John Davis and Jack Graham plus good pitching by rookie left-hander Willie Luna saved the day.

Having lost to Hollywood 6-2 in the first game of a twin-bill, the leaders would have dropped to third with a loss in the nightcap and the stars would have taken over. But Luna went well the full seven-inning route for a 5-3 win.

Things might also have been different if second place Los Angeles hadn't been rained out. The Angels were overdue against Portland's Beavers who had waxed them four out of five.

A downpour postponed their doubleheader. The same happened at Seattle for the Rainiers and Oakland Oaks.

At San Francisco, the Seals split with Sacramento, winning 6-5 but dropping the abbreviated nightcap 5-2.

Seattle optioned infielder Len Tran to Vancouver of the Western International League.

The Beavers released infielder Jim Tabor, who was injured in spring training, and removed outfielder Don White from the active list.

Rainier vice-president R. C. Torrence also announced that outfielder Bill Cleveland, a rookie assigned to Vancouver during spring training was transferred to Wenatchee in the W.I.L.

P.C.H.L. Season To Be Shortened

SEATTLE, April 28 (AP)—The Pacific Coast Hockey League season, which ran from October 6 to April 23 just past, will be shortened at least a week for 1952-53, president G. A. (Al) Leader, said today.

"There was a definite feeling throughout the league that this past season ran too long," Leader explained, "with 24 weeks of regular season and the playoffs on top of that. But we can't shorten it much more than a week, because the clubs want to keep the 70-game schedule, and we have to leave room for the three prairie clubs to make three trips each to the coast, and the five coast clubs to make three trips each to the prairies."

The prairie cities, Leader says, were enthusiastic about their first season in the P.C.H.L. He said Saskatoon Quakers, playoff winners, enjoyed the best season of any sports enterprise in the city's history. In the playoffs, they drew 32,385 for seven home games.

Leader will meet with officials of the prairie cities—Edmonton, Calgary and Saskatoon—in either Edmonton or Calgary—Friday to iron out some of their individual problems. Then, on May 13-14, the annual P.C.H.L. meeting will be held here.

"All eight clubs are set to go again," Leader explained, "although Saskatoon, Calgary and Edmonton will have to be voted into the league formally at our meeting in Seattle. They came in this past season on a one-year trial basis—but both they and our coast clubs were happy with the trial."

TACOMA IN—"Edmonton already has made arrangements to be tied up with Detroit's National League champions next season, so you can see they're ready."

Only doubtful starters among the five coast cities—Seattle, Tacoma, Victoria, Vancouver and West Vancouver—were Tacoma, and the Rocket owners have assured Leader they'll be in the race again. Muzz Patrick will continue as coach, too.

Leader also announced a new attendance mark for the season of 1,094,320. The 24 post-season playoffs drew 102,260 fans while the regular 70-game season.

Tottenham, Manchester Release Tour Schedules

LONDON, April 28 (AP)—Two of England's finest soccer teams—Manchester United and Tottenham Hotspur—will tour Canada and the United States in May and June.

Both Manchester United, winners of the English League championship this season, and Tottenham Hotspur, league champions in 1950-51, have tough schedules. The two English squads will face each other in Toronto June 14 and in New York June 15.

Manchester United is the most consistent combination in England. It has been runner-up for the league championship four times in five post-war seasons before winning this year.

Combines Whip Heaneys In Junior Soccer Final

Victoria Combines of the Lower Island Junior and Juvenile Football Association defeated Heaney's, 4-1, to capture the T. Eaton Trophy, emblematic of junior division supremacy at lower Beacon Hill Sunday.

The contest officially wound up the 1951-52 season.

Actually, Combines could have won the game by default, as only eight men turned out for Heaney's, but the Cartagamen preferred to play the contest.

Heaney's put up a good battle and were tied 1-1 with the victors at the end of the first half before giving ground to the stronger side.

In the only game Saturday, Eagles of the third division copped the Geoffrey Edgell Trophy when they defeated James Bay Merchants, 2-1, in the first period of overtime.

Bowling League Windup Tuesday

The Capital City and District Carpet Bowling League will wind up its season Tuesday at the club rooms of the United Bowling Club with presentation of the Byng Shield and other cups and prizes won during the year.

A whist drive will follow the ceremonies.

O.B. Wanderers Lift Cowichan Cup To Climax Successful Rugger Season

The happiest and proudest man in town today is Dick Ellis, coach of the Oak Bay Wanderers rugger team.

He's happy because his team defeated J.B.A.A., 6-3, and Crusaders, 11-10, to capture the coveted Cowichan Trophy, emblematic of Vancouver Island rugger supremacy in a three-game series Saturday, and he's proud because they won the trophy with teamwork.

All season long, Ellis has been drumming it into the Wanderers that teamwork is what wins games, and he more than proved his point when Wanderers defeated Crusaders for the Barnard Cup two months ago, and Saturday when they downed Crusaders for the Cowichan Trophy.

Wanderers' final victory over Crusaders in the second game of the Cowichan series was no push-over, although they made it look easy in the first 15-minute half.

The Oak Bay XV opened scoring early in the first frame when Rookie Wright charged across Crusaders' line from a scrum to put the victors ahead, 3-0. Ellis missed the convert.

Then, late in the first half, on one of the nicest plays of the game, Jim Mill grabbed the ball from a lineout near the corner and tried to charge through but McKenzie blocked. Mill flipped the ball to little Tommy McIlveen, who hurled himself over four or five players to score.

In the second stanza, Gary Webster, on loan from Victoria College, put Wanderers ahead 9-0 when he kicked a loose ball into the losers' end zone and chased after it with Dave McKenzie, beating the fleet wingman to the ball by inches.

Ellis missed the convert, but McKenzie was called for charging and the Wanderers scrum half was awarded a free kick. He was successful and Oak Bay led 11-0.

Crusaders connected for 10 quick points shortly afterwards, on a broken field run by Art Hicks, a convert by McKenzie, a pass from a lineout to Ray Calton.

Wanderers' final victory over Crusaders in the second game of the Cowichan series was no push-over, although they made it look easy in the first 15-minute half.

The Oak Bay XV opened scoring early in the first frame when Rookie Wright charged across Crusaders' line from a scrum to put the victors ahead, 3-0. Ellis missed the convert.

Then, late in the first half, on one of the nicest plays of the game, Jim Mill grabbed the ball from a lineout near the corner and tried to charge through but McKenzie blocked. Mill flipped the ball to little Tommy McIlveen, who hurled himself over four or five players to score.

In the second stanza, Gary Webster, on loan from Victoria College, put Wanderers ahead 9-0 when he kicked a loose ball into the losers' end zone and chased after it with Dave McKenzie, beating the fleet wingman to the ball by inches.

Ellis missed the convert, but McKenzie was called for charging and the Wanderers scrum half was awarded a free kick. He was successful and Oak Bay led 11-0.

Crusaders connected for 10 quick points shortly afterwards, on a broken field run by Art Hicks, a convert by McKenzie, a pass from a lineout to Ray Calton.

SPARTAN VALOR WINS

NEW YORK, April 28 (AP)—Spartan Valor was put to the test Saturday and came through in the style to win the $60,000-added Gallant Fox handicap at Jamaica.

But time was running out and Wanderers preserved their one-point lead by kicking to touch until the final whistle.

PENALTIES HURT BAYS

In the semi-final games, Wanderers downed J.B.A.A. on two penalty kicks by Ellis, and Crusaders defeated James Bay's second division team 11-0 on tries by Art Hicks and Ken Bridge, a convert and 40-yard drop kick by McKenzie.

Wanderers presented the Johnny Shepherd Memorial Trophy to coach Dick Ellis for being the most valuable and most sportsmanlike man on the team.

No Legion Directive On Liquor Plebiscite

VANCOUVER, April 28 (CP)—Canadian Legion provincial council announced Sunday it will not issue a directive to its 35,000 members on how to vote on the June 12 liquor plebiscite.

This ruling was handed down at a week-end meeting of the legion's provincial council which was presided over by one branch, regarding direction on how to vote on the question.

Immediate past president Bernie Isman said the council decided every veteran as well as every citizen should use his own discretion in voting.

'LOYALTY TO AUTHOR'

Cowichan Wins South Island Drama Award

POPULAR Victoria baritone John Bray has been assigned the heavy role of Willem, the inn-keeper, in Victor Herbert's "Red Mill" being brought to the Royal Theatre, May 15, 16 and 17, by the Victoria Gilbert and Sullivan Society. The comedy part, in heavy dialect, will reveal a new facet of the talents of a singer who is known chiefly for ballad and oratorio work.

By AUDREY ST. D. JOHNSON
The Cowichan Little Theatre Guild, which brought three plays to the Southern Vancouver Island Drama Festival last week, on Saturday walked off with two of the principal honors, according to the judgment of Ian Dobbie, adjudicator.

In naming the Up-Island group's "Campbell of Kilmohr," directed by Mrs. Jean Webster, as best play in the festival, Mr. Dobbie stated that his decision was reached on the basis of loyalty to the author and quality of presentation.

For his performance of the Campbell of the play, Don Campbell was the best actor, with Capt. Charles Gibson of St. Luke's Players, runner-up, the latter for his role in "When the Old Cook Crows."

The title of best actress went to Connie Thompson who played "La Diabola" in the Island Vagabonds' presentation of "The Illusionist." Runner-up was Maureen Fitzgerald, for "Lucy Clair" in "White Iris."

Two original plays were entered in the festival. The adjudicator selected "The 728," written by Flora K. Nicholson and presented by St. Luke's Players, as "best."

Actors and actresses honorably mentioned were: Gwen Downes, Margaret Martin, Ethel Thomas, Rosalie Cheesman, Lois Greenwood, Tania Monteth and Cynthia Ross.

Especially called to the platform was Mrs. Edith Gibson, director of "The Illusionist," who, in playing the male title role, said Mr. Dobbie.

A well-filled Victoria High School auditorium greeted the honor performance of four of the week's top plays. Violin solos were performed by Alan Tregear, accompanied by Miss Dorothy Francis. The pleasant intermission music has been arranged each night by Dr. Roger Manning, president of the Victoria Musical Arts Society.

Victoria business men will be interested in the visit here Tuesday of Wayland Gibson-Smith, Canadian Government Trade Commissioner at Leopoldville in the Belgian Congo. He will interview manufacturers, importers and exporters interested in trade with his territory which includes the Congo, Anglo and French Equatorial Africa. He may be contacted through the Department of Trade and Industry in the Douglas Building.

Fix Your Own Car in Novel Repair Depot

MONTREAL (CP)—Peter Staruch recently opened a new "do it yourself garage" here and he says he has discovered more potential mechanics than you can shake a stick at.

The owner of the novel repair shop is a lanky ex-farmer who got used to repairing his own vehicles while working on his father's farm.

The garage is a paradise for people who like to tinker with their cars—they can wallow in greases and oil for only a fraction of the cost of having mechanics do the work at a conventional garage or service station.

Pete borrowed the idea of the garage from articles on the activities of two Chicago men who set up auto stalls, handed out tools and advice, and allowed car owners to rip their cars apart for the love of it.

All you pay for in the "do it yourself garage" is the space your car occupies. With space for 15 to 20 cars depending on what make and model they are, Pete is now taking advance reservations.

For $2.75 a day—of 14 hours—customers draw a stall, light extensions and a box of tools. If they need jacks or other equipment all they have to do is yell.

The garage owner stocks some auto accessories but only as an extra service for his customers. "I couldn't possibly have enough stock here to satisfy everyone because there are too many models to look after," he says.

Saskatchewan, Alberta May Vote Before B.C.

By BRIAN O'LEARY
Times Ottawa Representative

OTTAWA, April 28 — Alberta and Saskatchewan may have their provincial elections in early June just before British Columbia's. Social Credit and C.C.F. sources here predicted Sunday.

Reasons for calling these two prairie provincial elections with such haste, they added, would be tactical, closely tied in with the B.C. polling.

The B.C. election is slated for Thursday, June 12. Those in Alberta and Saskatchewan may be held sometime in the first ten days of June, it is said.

If this is what is in the books for the two prairie provinces, both Alberta's Premier Manning and Saskatchewan's Premier Douglas will have to announce them within the next week or so.

Early announcements would have to be made by both men to allow about five weeks to elapse between the date of dissolution of their legislatures and polling day.

Social Crediters here are speculating on an early June Alberta election on this basis:

They confidently predict that Premier Manning's government will be returned to power in the coming election in Alberta.

MORAL SUPPORT

A Manning victory in Alberta just before the B.C. polling would give strong moral support to B.C. Social Crediters in their first major bid for power on the Pacific Coast.

Federal C.C.F.'ers here follow the same line of thought in predicting an early June vote in Saskatchewan. They expect the C.C.F. government there to be returned to power easily.

A C.C.F. triumph in Saskatchewan would, they think, give a sort of spiritual uplift to the Pacific Coast stalwarts in their electoral fight in which their fortunes are frankly admitted to be almost as insecure as those of the B.C. Social Crediters.

One Liberal commented sardonically on this bit of speculation: "And is Premier Duplessis of Quebec going to call his election just before the B.C. contest, too, in the hope that a possible win

For over 20 years, the Vancouver Women's Musical Club has been offering a string scholarship in the province of B.C., to the value of $400.

Lately, concern has been expressed over the tendency in the public mind to regard the scholarship as applicable only to Vancouver. City students or teachers, interested in this award, can receive information by writing to Mrs. Margaret Glaspie, scholarship convener, 4887 Marguerite Ave., Vancouver, before May 1.

Court-Martial Proceedings Against Grow

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP)—The army today brought court-martial charges against Maj. Gen. Robert W. Grow, former United States military attaché in Moscow whose diary was copied by Communist agents in Germany last year.

The army announcement by secretary Frank Pace said Grow has been charged with "improperly recording classified military information in private records and failing properly to safeguard classified military information."

Grow had written in the diary that he thought war with Russia was imminent.

Grow has been assigned to the headquarters of the second army at Fort Meade, Md., since his return from Europe.

Army officials said in March that someone believed to be a Soviet agent slipped into Grow's room in Frankfurt, Germany, and photographed portions of the diary.

Excerpts were printed in a book, published in east Berlin, which the army said tried to "prove" Gen. Grow and the U.S. were "tools of Wall Street" and "warmongers," and that Gen. Grow was a spy.

Brig.-Gen. Spivey Rescued From Sea

TOKYO, April 28 (AP)—A boat crew from the United States amphibious command ship Mt. McKinley rescued Brig.-Gen. D. T. Spivey and two other persons from the wreckage of a helicopter at sea Saturday. Spivey, commander of the Japan air defense command, was en route to the Mt. McKinley off Japan to visit Rear-Admiral Francis A. McInerney when a power failure caused the helicopter to crash into the sea near the ship.

Iran's Parliament Opens With Pleas For More Social Justice, Equality

TEHRAN, April 28 (AP)—Amid glittering trappings of pomp and ceremony, Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi opened Iran's 17th Majlis (parliament) Sunday with pleas for greater social justice and equality.

The legislators then recessed until May 8, without tackling any of the difficult financial problems they face.

Resplendent in a blue uniform with medals, the 33-year-old ruler spoke only 4½ minutes before senators, deputies, army officials and foreign diplomats.

Premier Mohammed Mossadegh was not present. The official reason given for his absence was ill health. Also missing was Soviet Ambassador Ivan Sadchikov, dean of the diplomatic corps. Speculation was that he had stayed away in protest against resumption of United States military aid to Iran.

(Moscow newspapers Sunday accused the U.S. of forcing military assistance on Iran.)

The Shah came to the Majlis chamber in a limousine along the crowded, heavily-guarded two-mile route from the palace. About 74 deputies were in the chamber to hear him, five over the legal quorum.

Elections to the Lower House have been going on since last December but only 76 of 136 seats have been filled and the voting continues. The country has been without a Parliament since February 19, when the terms of old members expired.

"The foreign policy of my government is based on friendly relations with all countries, mutual respect and adherence to the principles of the United Nations Charter and strengthening national defense," the Shah said.

"Domestic policy is to secure the people's comfort and raise the standard of living, especially of the peasants and workers, and exploit the country's resources, including oil resources which are nationalized."

A ROUTINE CORONER'S inquest into the fatal shooting of 36-year-old Mrs. Mildred Addyman, of Windsor, Ont., ended with dramatic suddenness when a murder charge was laid against her husband, Gordon, seen above. Mrs. Addyman was killed by a shot from a revolver held by her husband who told police that he had been showing it to her when his finger had slipped off the hammer.

U.S. Jet Crashes In England, 3 Die

BROADSTAIRS, Kent, Eng., April 28 (AP)—A flaming United States Thunderjet fighter hurtled into a bank building on the main street Sunday, killing the pilot and an elderly couple and injuring several others.

The blast of flame that brought down the building around the burning plane belched into an adjoining home and critically burned a housewife cooking her Sunday dinner.

The dead couple were in their flat above the bank's offices. The explosion collapsed the structure like a direct bomb hit.

The pilot, whose body was flung out of the wrecked building into a backyard, was identified as Capt. Clifford Froggarty, 29.

R.C.M.P. Discover Body of Aged Man

DAWSON CREEK, B.C., April 28 (CP)—The body of Robert James McIlveen, 78, was found near here Sunday by R.C.M.P. search parties.

McIlveen had been missing two weeks after wandering away from the farm, about 10 miles north of Dawson Creek, where he worked.

His bulldog was sitting by the body, found in thick brush half a mile from the farm.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

"The Victoria High School chamber music ensemble Friday night won a first-class rating at the British Columbia Musical Festival.

"The Victoria ensemble was the only competitor in the class... it was awarded a certificate, the only prize given in that class."—Canadian Press dispatch from Vancouver.

Darn! And I bet them to show.

Winn Barron, the editor of Canadian Paramount News, wound up his brief visit to Victoria with a good look at the waterfront. His object: to select scenes for the newsreel library, to be used if and when needed.

"We haven't anything new that shows Victoria as it is," he said, which everybody accepted as a compliment, and maybe it was.

Anyway, who do you think arranged for Barron's waterfront look-see?

Tom Morrison, of course, the department of transport agent here.

When Barron asked me what could be done about the trip, I called Tom, without a second thought. He's that kind of Joe, ask him for something, and he'll either do it himself or find a friend of a friend of a friend who'll give you a hand.

More people in Victoria have received a helping hand from Tom than will ever admit it.

The new Readers Digest is out, so maybe the quality of the alleged gobs in Between Times will improve for a while. I have to wait a bit, though, before stealing the latest quotable-quotes, bright sayings, and snappy gobs from the Digest.

When Don Wilson was running the Lucky Lady program on CKDA, he used to use a full issue of Readers Digest in two programs, leaving nothing for the rest of us.

I only hope Bill Stephenson is a little more generous.

Which brings me, with a sort of inevitability, to the newspaper column which appears weekly in the Times, written by another member of CKDA's staff, Sed Lambaster.

The reason I have to mention him here is that this Sad Linchester complained that I recently misspelled his name.

Well, apparently the fact I inadvertently misspelled Linchester's name has caused him to draw about him a cloak of anonymity.

I note that his column, "The Open Mike," in Saturday's paper, had no name of any kind attached to it.

Don't take it so hard, Clambuster, old boy. We'll get you straightened out yet.

Gentleman from Texas blew into Vancouver for the first time, and being an ex-U.S.A.A.F. type who was a friend of Bob Williams in England, he looked Bob up.

As all Vancouverites do, Bob asked the visitor how he liked the city. (I might say, parenthetically, that Vancouverites feel a dread compulsion to ask the question, despite their nervousness that someone might once tell the truth!)

The Texan who had just walked up the main streets past a few dozen taverns, hesitated, then said:

"Well, judging by all those signs I see—the ones reading 'Men' and 'Women,' people here must be mighty virile—mighty virile!"

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

A Duncan Indian was found dead on the street of the Up-Island town early Sunday.

R.C.M.P. said the body of 25-year-old David Pierre was found lying on Duncan's Government Street by A. R. Batstone, operator of an all-night restaurant.

Police said there was no evidence of foul play.

Cause of death was unknown and a post-mortem examination was expected today, followed by an inquest.

J. A. Edmison, Q.C., authority on penal reform and assistant to the principal of Queens University, will address a public meeting under the auspices of the John Howard Society at Spencerhouse Tuesday evening at 8.15.

Three persons were injured Saturday near Campbell River when the car they were riding in overturned while they were on their way to catch the Nanaimo-Vancouver boat.

Taken to Campbell River's Lourdes Hospital were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Coella, of Campbell River, and Lloyd Vaughan, of Heriot.

Arthur S. Cutforth, 1427 Lang, was fined $200 in police court today after pleading guilty to a charge of driving while his ability was impaired by alcohol.

Magistrate H. C. Hall said he would send a report to the Motor Vehicle Branch recommending suspension of Cutforth's driver's license.

Fined $50 for unlawfully having liquor in a restaurant was Wong Yuen, 1310 Government.

He pleaded guilty to the charge.

Police Sergeant Jack Mason told the court he found a number of bottles of liquor and beer in the Commercial Cafe and when he asked the accused about them, he was told they were "being kept for a friend."

B.C. Electric Co. Ltd. offered to sponsor a series of seven summer concerts in Beacon Hill Park again this year.

In a letter to the city today E. W. Arnott, vice-president, suggested the concerts be held on consecutive Wednesday nights from 8 to 9.30 from July 2 to August 13 inclusive.

Tentative arrangements have been made to have James M. Miller conduct, Mr. Arnott said. The company has sponsored a concert series in the park for several years.

Princess Louise and Princess Kathleen will be used for the 8 1/2-day cruise, Louise making her first trip from Vancouver June 4, and Kathleen June 11. Sailings are spaced 10 to 11 days apart.

Although C.P.R. schedules are on Pacific standard time, departure of the night boat to Vancouver has been altered so it will still be, in effect, the "midnight boat" despite the general switch to daylight saving.

For the summer, this sailing will be at 10.59 p.m., standard time (11.59 daylight).

Afternoon sailing to Vancouver will be at 1.10 p.m., standard (2.10 p.m., daylight); arrival from Vancouver will be 2.45 p.m., standard (3.45 p.m., daylight).

The day boat for Seattle will sail at 4.30 p.m., standard (5.30 p.m., daylight); arrival from Seattle will be at 11.50 a.m., standard (12.50 p.m., daylight).

Mr. Blanchard said there are 1,600 community chests now active in Canada and the United States, with 21,000 "givers," 2,000 volunteer workers, and 15,000 agencies financed through community campaigns.

Purpose of the conference is to provide a forum for professionals and volunteers in the community organization field, with emphasis on problems of campaign federation, community social planning, budgeting and public relations.

Delegates from B.C., Alberta, Washington, Oregon and California are attending.

Errol M. Hagen, 129 Battery, Gordon Head Army Camp, was fined $35 after pleading guilty to a charge of careless driving.

Fined $30 for violating a restricted driver's license was Richard M. Jessop, 2508 Cook.

Ontario's band will present an intricate drill prior to, and after, the presentation.

The head of the mace is a terrestrial globe of sterling silver, engraved with the province of Ontario's coat of arms, and a naval crown. The mounds on the shaft are hand-chased representations of the ship's crest. The shaft is of ebonized birch.

The presentation will be made on behalf of the province of Ontario and Premier Leslie Frost by Dr. A. F. Mahaffey, 237 King George Terrace, an old friend of the premier.

Premier Off On Island Campaign

By GORDON FORBES
Times Legislative Reporter

Premier Byron Johnson left Victoria early this morning on the first leg of an election tour which in the next six weeks will take him over the length and breadth of British Columbia.

The premier, accompanied by Mrs. Johnson, will spend all this week slumping Vancouver Island before taking off for other parts of the province.

The campaigning pair will travel by just about every available means of transportation to reach some of the far-flung sections of this vast province. They hope to visit every riding.

Scheduled stops today on the packed itinerary are Parksville, Courtenay and Campbell River where Premier Johnson will address large meetings.

On Tuesday, he will attend a Board of Trade luncheon at Port Alberni for a "non-political" meeting and at night will address a public meeting.

NANAIMO WEDNESDAY
He will be in Nanaimo all day Wednesday, winding up the day there with an address to a public meeting. Thursday he will be in the Esquimalt riding. Friday at Duncan and Saturday in Saanich.

Next Monday Premier Johnson is scheduled to be in Victoria and Oak Bay. In Oak Bay, the seat held by Opposition Leader Herbert Anscomb for years, the Liberals are hoping for big things from their candidate Reeve P. A. Gibbs. They consider him a strong candidate who could upset the Tory chieftain.

Premier Johnson, well armed with facts and statistics about the province he leads, is expected in all his addresses to concentrate on "telling the story" of B.C.'s surging development under Liberal administration.

Parley Opens On Community Chest Affairs

Their groups are "turbulent, embattled and dynamic," more than 100 delegates to the western conference of Community Chest and Councils were told today at the opening of a four-day convention in Empress Hotel.

They were warned to guard against "two powerful, negative forces" by the luncheon speaker, Ralph H. Blanchard, executive director of Community Chests and Councils, Inc., New York.

In keynoting the conference, he said that chests and councils were born in the turbulent days of the First World War, continued through the troubles of depression years, were plunged into extra activity in the Second World War, and are now in turbulent times again.

"You are embattled against the negative force of people who use free enterprise pretexts as a sort of lever for continuance of unrestrained competition," he said.

NO SPECIAL TERMS
"There is a more subtle danger from those friendly to chests and councils. An example is the agency which wishes to participate in a campaign, but on special terms."

"Do not be tempted," he warned. "Maintain firm adherence to principles and procedures."

Mr. Blanchard said there are 1,600 community chests now active in Canada and the United States, with 21,000 "givers," 2,000 volunteer workers, and 15,000 agencies financed through community campaigns.

Purpose of the conference is to provide a forum for professionals and volunteers in the community organization field, with emphasis on problems of campaign federation, community social planning, budgeting and public relations.

Delegates from B.C., Alberta, Washington, Oregon and California are attending.

Fined $30 for violating a restricted driver's license was Richard M. Jessop, 2508 Cook.

ECCLESIASTICAL PAGEANTRY MARKS CONSECRATION RITES

Two rare and colorful ceremonial rites prescribed by the Anglican Church for the ordination of high priests were witnessed at Christ Church Cathedral Sunday.

At separate services Most Rev. Harold E. Sexton was installed as Archbishop and Metropolitan of the Ecclesiastical Province of British Columbia, and Rt. Rev. Tom Greenwood consecrated as a bishop to serve the Yukon diocese.

The two seldom-seen ceremonies drew hundreds of Anglicans and was attended by many Church of England clergy from far and near.

Consecration of the bishop took nearly two hours at the morning service, and was performed by Archbishop Sexton with eight bishops and a bishop coadjutor taking part, and two deacons, an archdeacon, four canons and 20 lesser ministers joining in the procession.

Installation of the Metropolitan at night was conducted by seven bishops and 40 other clergy in attendance.

The morning service was witnessed by about 800 persons, while the evening ceremony drew a near-capacity crowd of 1,100.

Included among the congregation at the night service were representatives of the Crown, the armed services, officials of state and members of civic government.

Lieutenant-Governor Clarence Wallace participated in the installation of the Metropolitan by presenting a silver Metropolitan cross on a wooden staff to the archbishop for use by himself and his successors. As well as being a symbol of office, the cross bears an inscription commemorating the visit here last year of Queen Elizabeth.

Induction of Archbishop Sexton as the fourth Metropolitan of the British Columbia Ecclesiastical Province was performed by Rt. Rev. Frederic Stanford, Bishop of Cariboo.

Most Rev. Walter R. Adams, recently retired Metropolitan, raised his right hand to pronounce blessing over his successor following which Rt. Rev. J. B. Gibson, Bishop of Caledonia, announced to the congregation that the Lord Archbishop had been duly installed as Metropolitan.

At the declaration, the great bells in the northwest tower rang out a joyous peal.

Named as Metropolitan in the Church of God, Archbishop Sexton will have care of the ecclesiastical area taking in the whole of British Columbia and the Yukon Territory. He will summon together bishops of the area as need arises and preside over them; he will summon and preside over the provincial Synod as well, and consecrate new bishops.

Rt. Rev. Godfrey P. Gower, Bishop of New Westminster, preached the sermon at the installation ceremony while Archdeacon A. E. de L. Nunn, rector of St. Mary's Church, read the lesson taken from the New Testament.

A striking feature of the service was the singing of the mixed choir which handled the difficult anthems with outstanding ability.

Seated in the first row of the congregation were Vice Admiral E. R. Mainguy, chief of naval staff, and Read Admiral W. B. Creery, flag officer Pacific coast. (For full story on Bishop Greenwood's consecration, see story page 9.)

Alberta M.P. to Head Social Credit Campaign

At Social Credit one-day convention in New Westminster were in fight for leadership were, from left, Lyle Wicks, B.C. president; W. A. C. Bennett, former South Okanagan M.L.A.; Rev. E. G. Hansell, M.P. Alberta, chosen to head campaign; Solon E. Low, national leader; W. N. Chant, Esquimalt candidate.

Closer International Liaison Aim Of Canada's Civil Defense Chief

The British Columbia-Washington State mutual assistance program for civil defense is the model set-up in the Canadian federal chief would like to see all provinces across the Dominion follow.

This was conveyed in a letter received today from Maj. Gen. W. W. Worthington, federal co-ordinator for Canada, to top officials of the B.C. group.

The general was pleased with the hands-across-the-border plans being developed in the far west. As neighboring states and provinces along the 49th Parallel and through the Maritimes were likely to encounter similar problems in the event of enemy action against this continent, the federal chief would like to see the mutual assistance program extended from coast to coast.

Brig. G. A. McCarter, deputy co-ordinator in B.C., returned today from a civil defense mission in San Francisco. All western states were represented at the conference.

"Everybody got a lot of useful information from the conference. Their problems are similar to ours, but, of course, theirs is more immense as they have a bigger population to deal with," said Brig. McCarter.

At the conference were U.S. federal officials who, at Los Vegas, viewed the recent atomic bomb explosion. They were 75 miles away.

"They were not allowed within the danger area, but required pink glasses when the blinding flash came and felt a little of the heat wave from the explosion," said Brig. McCarter.

He said that officials in charge of C.D. in the United States, state, regional, and federal—are taking their job very seriously and pushing their plans with no let-up.

AWARDS PRESENTED NURSE GRADUATES

Sixty-six young women in white sat on a flower-banked stage in the Royal Jubilee Hospital Sunday night to receive the diploma and badge which marks the office of a graduate nurse.

They were members of the graduating class of Royal Jubilee Hospital's school of nursing and friends and relatives filled the theatre for the always colorful and moving ceremony.

It was the climax of three years of hard work, study, training and new experience for the class of 1952.

Keynote of the evening's addresses were discipline and devotion to duty which marks the nurse's calling and the close relationship between religion and the hospital.

Air Marshal Sir Philip C. Livingston, K.B.E., C.B., A.F.C., P.R.C.S., of Duncan, stressed the great responsibilities which a nurse carries.

Interspersed was a highlight history of nursing with special reference to a chapel dedicated in Westminster Abbey to nursing sisters who lost their lives in the Second World War.

The honor roll bears 3,026 names, he said.

VALENTINIAN
In her valedictory address, Barbara Sinclair, who won the "Canadian Nurse Award" for showing the greatest promise of professional development, spoke of the challenge for the future and need for utmost devotion to duty.

James Thow, chairman of the board of directors, welcomed the graduates, while George E. Masers, hospital administrator, and Miss Lucie P. Woodrow, director of nursing, presented diplomas and badges.

Health and Welfare Minister A. D. Turnbull represented the provincial government, and Ald. Margaret Christie, the city.

"William S. Day presented the Robert S. and Patricia Day Memorial Scholarship to Miss Sinclair.

Dr. J. L. Murray Anderson announced the following awards which were presented by Miss Mary Richmond, director of nursing education:

B.C. Cement Co. for highest aggregate standing in examinations, Janet Bompas.

Consulting staff for proficiency in clinical nursing, Lyn Pick.

Department of obstetrics and gynaecology for obstetrical and gynaecological nursing, Gail Keyworth.

Department of ophthalmology for nursing in diseases of the eye, Joyce Watts.

Dr. Glenn Simpson Award for pediatric nursing, Dorothy Gray.

Department of surgery for proficiency in operating room technique, Nan Campbell.

Department of medicine for highest standing in course in medical nursing, Nancy Roberts.

CAR HITS MAN ON NEW ROAD

An elderly man is in fair condition at Jubilee Hospital today as the result of being struck by a car Saturday night on the new Patricia Bay Highway near Royal Oak.

He is Robert Turnbull, 4400 block Quadra, who was crossing the road on foot when he collided with a car driven by David M. Hesselgrave, 580 Johnson.

Turnbull suffered a fractured leg, cuts and bruises.

SIX INJURED

Motorcycle, Car Crashes Mar Holiday

Six persons went to hospital Saturday as the result of two separate accidents in the city.

William H. Dash, of 632 Dundas, and Karen Elander, 16, of 809 Hutchinson, were taken to Jubilee Hospital Saturday afternoon after the motorcycle they were riding collided with a car driven by Jesse Brooks, 1608 North Dairy, at the Hillside-Shelbourne intersection.

Dash was treated for a broken foot and hand cuts, Miss Elander suffered head and leg abrasions.

An accident later at Burnside and Douglas sent four children to hospital for treatment of minor injuries.

Injured were Gustave M. Roberg, 671 Burnside; Louis Roberg, 6; Linda Roberg, 9, and Donald Jacobson, 11. All suffered cuts and bruises and were passengers in a car driven by Roberg, which collided with another driven by Thomas W. Cox, 726 Newberry.

A woman was injured early Sunday when a car went out of control at Colwood Corner and skidded broadside into a telephone pole.

Jessie Miller, 252 Superior, was treated for a head cut but the driver, Edward B. Miller, 1144 Oscar, no relation to the injured woman, escaped injury.

Damage to the car was about $200.

Weeps at Husband's Return

Mrs. Margery Hemmingsen with tears of joy greets husband, Capt. Bob Hemmingsen, at Vancouver Saturday night on his return from Korea after year-long service with the 2 R.C.H.A., of the 25th Canadian Brigade. They live at 1200 Basil and will be returning to Victoria Tuesday after a two-day stay in Seattle. They have two small sons.

Board Suggests 35-Cent Raise For Carpenters

A 35-cent-an-hour wage increase has been recommended for Victoria and lower Island carpenters.

The suggested pay boost to bring the rate of pay to $2.10 an hour is the principal recommendation of a majority conciliation-board-report handed down by the Labor Relations Board today.

The report recommends as well that local carpenters be entitled to union shop protection.

Members of the carpenters' union affected by the report will meet to consider acceptance or rejection at a meeting to be held Monday of next week.

Although the union originally asked for a 75-cent raise to bring the rate to $2.50 it is thought likely by some that they will look favorably upon the $2.10 rate and vote to accept.

NO COMMITMENT
A union spokesman would not commit himself on this possibility but conceded "majority recommendations have, in the past, had a considerable bearing on the final settlement of wage disputes in Victoria."

Less likely is the possibility of Victoria contractors agreeing to pay the recommended rate. They have declared themselves unalterably opposed to paying any more than $1.90 an hour, which is the recommendation of the minority report.

The majority award was handed down by Gordon Poupore, who sat as chairman of the board, and Robert Strachan, who represented the union. The fact the union nominee recommended the $2.10 rate is another reason to believe the carpenters might accept.

UNREALISTIC
The minority report was signed by Ed McKinley, who represented the Victoria Building Industries' Exchange on the board.

He termed the majority recommendation "most unrealistic," and declared such a raise as proposed would be "economically disastrous" to the industry.

McKinley was critical of Poupore's attitude during the board hearing.

"I am most disappointed with the attitude displayed by the chairman in suggesting at the outset that we should settle on a wage which would be a compromise between the amount originally offered by the exchange and the amount demanded by the union."

SAID COMPROMISE
He declared: "This approach resulted automatically in the award of an amount which was arrived at purely as a compromise, and not as a reasonable or just decision."

Significant thing about the majority recommendation is that it would put the Victoria rate above that being paid in Vancouver, something which has never happened before.

Mainland carpenters have been earning $2 an hour for the last year and a majority conciliation board report handed down last week recommended that their wage level remain there.

Vancouver carpenters have indicated, however, that they will strike rather than agree to go without some raise in pay.

Two Days Left To Check List

Two more days are left for British Columbians to get themselves on the provincial voters' list.

The district registrar's office at 910 Gordon Street will remain open nights until Wednesday in order to provide the fullest opportunity for persons who want to cast ballots in the June 12 election to check their registration and see they are entitled to vote in the correct district.

FATAL CRASH BRINGS $14,000 SETTLEMENT

A sum of $14,000 was agreed upon in Supreme Court chambers today as a settlement in the civil suit of Stuart Richardson Irvine, Chehalis lumber yard foreman, against 21-year-old Roy Gallop, of Victoria.

The settlement brings to an end legal proceedings against Gallop, owner of car involved in a tragic highway accident at Colwood on Sept. 2, 1950. Irvine and his four children were seriously injured while Mrs. Irvine, wife of the plaintiff, was killed.

Subsequently Gallop was tried on a charge of manslaughter in Assize Court. He was acquitted. The Crown failed to establish that he was driving the car at the time of accident.

The terms of agreement in the civil suit are that Gallop shall pay to Irvine and his children a sum of $3,000, installments of $25 a month.

This sum is in addition to the amount to be paid by Gallop's insurers, which amounts to $10,000 for injuries and loss of life and $1,000 for damage to car.

W. H. M. Haldane, counsel for the plaintiff Irvine agreed to the settlement on the grounds that Gallop was unable to pay any higher damages in his circumstances.

AESTHETIC BURGLAR

Figurines Reported Taken Over Week-End

Prowlers took $31 in cash, a radio, clock and $9 worth of glass figurines in four separate break-ins over the week-end.

Charlie Knight, 740 Johnson, told city police someone stole a $50 radio and table clock Saturday.

Peggy F. Cudby, 1750 Oak shade Lane, reported her home was ransacked and $29 taken after a prowler entered by removing the glass in a door.

Burglars stole three boxes containing $9 worth of glass figurines from the Yee Lum Ark Kee Company at 534 Fisgard Saturday night.

Mrs. James C. O'Connor, 919 Richmond, reported the theft of $150 in cash from a bedroom while she was entertaining friends downstairs.

A prowler was reported by C. N. Curtis, 1600 Oakland, early Sunday, but nothing was taken.

Lotion Really Penetrates

I bet this cleansing lotion is just what you have been looking for.

Before I go any further I do want to tell you that the lotion comes in a new plastic bottle that can be tossed around with no fear of it breaking and the precious contents landing in your lap or all over your dresser top.

The lotion itself is really revolutionary. It has been specially created so that it will really penetrate into the pores and not just remain on the surface.

The plastic bottle of penetrating-cleansing lotion is $1.75. Just in time to take their place with spring accessories are the French artificial roses. They are in a variety of colors and are priced from $1.50.

You'll have to look at them twice to believe that they aren't real. Know you'll be thrilled with this import.

Schools Teach Art of Living

MONTREAL (CP)—Pretty 16-year-old Louis Gaudet, of St. Hyacinthe, Que., says she hasn't time for boy friends—she's too busy learning to become a wife.

Bonner and H. F. Leggett, Mrs. Louise, a third year student in one of 100 domestic science schools in Quebec, can whip up a cake, plan a meal for eight with all the trimmings, decorate a home, weave a skirt and feed a family of four on $15 a week.

She says she can also organize a reception for any number of people, play tennis and other sports, tend children and carry on an intelligent conversation on numerous subjects.

For all this, Louis says she owes her thanks to the domestic school, sponsored by the provincial government, at nearby St. Lambert where 75 other pupils are receiving similar training under the direction of an order of Roman Catholic nuns.

Enrollment in domestic science schools, unique in Canada, topped 6,000 in Quebec this year. Their aim is to train young girls in the "art of living rather than the art of earning a living" with an emphasis on the belief that a woman's place is at home.

Some 15 years ago there were only 16 such schools in Quebec, with an enrollment of about 200. They receive grants from the provincial government and students are charged a "reasonable" monthly rate for room and board. If parents are unable to pay, the government offers bursaries.

A spring bridal ceremony in St. John's Anglican Church recently united Phyllis Elizabeth Thompson and Maurice John White in marriage.

Canon George Biddle officiated for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Thompson, Albany Street, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. White, Kings Road.

The dark-haired bride, on the arm of her father, wore an informal-length-satin and-chantilly lace gown, with white satin pumps and finger-tip veil misting from her Juliet cap of lace. Her bouquet was of pale pink roses with white stephanotis.

The attendants were Mrs. B. Tiffany, matron of honor, wearing a dress of pale blue net with flowered hat and matching ballerina shoes. Her bouquet was of pale pink carnations with ered table, flanked with candles and vases of pink roses.

Before leaving for the wedding trip in Portland, Oregon, the bride donned a pale yellow suit, black topcoat and accessories. Her corsage was of violets.

Between Ourselves

By ELIZABETH FORBES

Thirty young men and women from many countries of the world, came to Victoria last week-end to try and find out—in a matter of hours—just what makes up the Canadian pattern of living.

Foreign students, attending University of Washington, they were in the city at the invitation of Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club, who were assisted in entertaining them by the University's Women's Club and the P.E.O. Sisterhood.

For most it was the first time they had set foot on Canadian soil.

Honor students in their own countries, many with B.A. and M.A. degrees and now working for higher honors, they were keenly interested in every phase of life in the city. They asked hundreds of questions—and answered hundreds of queries themselves.

It was an interchange of information, stimulating and refreshing.

There was Hans—a young man from Germany—who looks ahead to teaching as a profession; Per Hoff, whose father is a newspaper man in Norway—he is studying law and journalism. Mr. Chang-Rodriguez, born in Peru, assistant editor of a suppressed newspaper, who may not return to his country, and now teaching and studying at university; Beatrice, also from Peru, who is studying nursing; her fiancé, Jose, from the Philippines, who is learning about business management in the hope he may some day return to his country where "the resources are many and to be developed."

Deb Manasveta was in the group from Thailand, saying little but smiling his enjoyment. And Mr. Kenro Hamano from Nagasaki, where, as he quietly reminded me, "an atom bomb was dropped." He is a member of the foreign affairs department of his government, and until recently has been studying international relations at John Hopkins.

Brij Chhabra has come from India and Concha Lemus from El Salvador. Other countries represented included China, Ceylon, Iraq, Malaya, France, Great Britain, Latvia, Greece and Canada.

All the students were guests in Victoria homes, giving them an opportunity to talk informally with their hosts and hostesses and to live for a short time in the Canadian way.

In 36 hours—from 9 a.m. Saturday morning until 4.30 p.m. Sunday afternoon—there was little time to present an all-over picture of Canadian living. But even in that short time, friendships can be made. And it is friendship the world needs.

Memories May Bear Fruit in Future

There is the thought too, that 30 young people, traveling from Seattle to Victoria together, going in to Victoria homes in twos, threes, and fours, sitting together around a meal table and talking, discussing and arguing (for they did talk, discuss and argue) may store up precious memories that will bear fruit in later years.

For these are intelligent young men and women, potential leaders in their own countries.

Looking ahead, it is conceivable that many of them will meet again. Perhaps shoulder to shoulder, or on opposite sides of conference tables.

If this should happen, they will look at each other with friendly eyes. A young Malay and a man from India may remember they shared a room and laughed together because one talked in his sleep.

A man from Kashmir may look at a man from Norway and think of a late night snack in a Victoria kitchen with good talk far into the morning.

A young German may look back to an hour on the Malahat, where, with four other young men representing Thailand, Norway and Latvia, he argued loudly and long as to the mechanics of a car that would not be persuaded to move and how eventually the five came to an agreement, and fixed the break with a bit of baling wire.

There will be memories too, of the return trip to Seattle, in the twilight, where the whole group gathered at a dinner table to talk over the week-end trip. To share experiences.

To share, in friendship, the fun and the laughter, the moments of misunderstanding, and the hours they liked best. Creating—together—a picture to carry home to their respective countries—of a week-end in Canada.

Sharing such memories—and thinking again of the months they spent together at university—they will surely face their problems differently.

Remembering—they will laugh again. And look at each other with renewed friendliness in their eyes.

It is on this friendship and understanding that the peace of the world depends.

Mary Straith-Lieut. Laurie Married At Candlelight Ceremony Saturday

An elegant bridal gown of shimmering "candlelight" satin touched with lace was a perfect contrast for the brown eyes and brunet hair of Mary Margaret Straith, who was united in marriage with Lieut. Greenwood John Laurie, R.C.N., at a ceremony in First United Church, Saturday evening.

Dr. W. G. Wilson and Rev. Moir A. J. Waters heard the nuptial vows of the daughter of Hon. William T. Straith, minister of education, and Mrs. Straith, Rockland Avenue, and the son of Mrs. H. K. Laurie, Saskatoon, Sask., and late Mr. Laurie.

The groom is stationed at Naval Air Station, Shearwater, N.S.

White flowers, predominantly calla lilies, were silhouetted in the candlelight church, and George Peaker played traditional wedding music as the bride entered the church on the arm of her father.

Mrs. W. H. Wilson sang "O Perfect Love," during the signing of the register.

The satin wedding gown was fashioned with a lace yoke edged in lace applique with Chantilly lace bodice in tone. A highlight was an inserted pleated lace panel on train at the back of the skirt. The sheath sleeves came to a lily point. The bride's chapel veil of "candlelight" illusion net misted from a bandeau of orange blossoms and she carried a V-shaped bouquet of cream roses. Her only jewelry was a pearl necklace and earrings, gift of the groom.

Maid of honor Miss Janet Straith, sister of the bride, came from Vancouver for the occasion. She wore a shot-taffeta gown in a pale green tone.

Bridesmaid Miss Patricia Gallagher wore an identical gown, and Miss Gloria Laurie, flower girl.

Canon R. Willis officiated at the double-ring ceremony in St. Mark's Anglican Church Saturday evening which united Esther Mary Hendy, R.N., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Edward Hendy, Abbotsford, and John Robert Mason, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mason, Harriet Road.

Spring flowers in tall white baskets were placed at the altar and were repeated in small bouquets on the guest pews.

Mrs. H. M. Horsfield, organist, played wedding music as the bride entered the church on the arm of her father, and accompanied Miss Eileen Rhodes when she sang "O Perfect Love," during the signing of the register.

The bride wore a gown of white net over taffeta contrasted with lace insets. A matching jacket of lace was styled with lily point sleeves, Peter Pan collar and buttons down the front. A finger-tip veil cascaded from a coronet of pearls and the bride carried a bouquet of red roses and lily of the valley. Her only jewelry was pearl earrings.

Maid of honor, Miss Laura Foster, R.N., chose a strapless gown of pale yellow net with a brocade bodice topped with matching bolero. Her nylon net cap was complemented with a spring bouquet.

Miss Rosina Hendy, sister of the bride and Carol Rivers, cousin of the groom, bridesmaids, wore a gown of pink taffeta with ankle-length skirt and nylon net yokes. They also wore matching headresses touched with pink roses and blue forget-me-nots.

Lan Drake was best man and ushers were James Doane and Arthur Cathcart. At the reception in the Harriet wore a long dress fashioned in daffodil-yellow chiffon.

All attendants carried colonial bouquets of violas and pansies and wore headresses of violas.

C.P.O. Douglas T. Laurie, brother of the groom, was best man. Ushers were Kenneth Hurn, W. Buchanan, George Straith and Donald Straith.

As the bridal couple left the church an aisle was formed by fellow naval officers of the groom.

A three-tier cake centred the bride's table at the reception in the lower lounge of the Empress

Hotel. The cake was topped with fresh orange blossoms from California, and a ring of the blossoms circled the cake at the base. The table was decorated in white, while red tulips highlighted the serving table. Spring blossoms were placed around the room and Dr. E. W. Boak proposed the toast.

Upon leaving for her honeymoon up-island and through the United States to Dartmouth, N.S., where the newlyweds will make their home, the bride wore a teal blue boucle suit topped with a winter white coat with navy calf accessories and a white orchid corsage. A bonnet-style teal blue straw hat complemented the ensemble.

Irene Holman Married On Mother's Birthday

Edith Irene Holman chose her mother's birthday to become the bride of Kenneth Charles Clarke in a double-ring ceremony conducted by Rev. J. A. Roberts in St. Paul's Naval and Garrison Church Saturday evening.

Traditional organ music was played by P. Hughes for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Holman, 671 Lampson Street, originally of Seattle, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Clarke, 251 Tolcross Avenue.

The church was decorated with daffodils and tulips for the occasion and satin bows marked the guest pews.

Mr. Holman gave his daughter in marriage. She wore an ankle-length gown of nylon net over taffeta with silk bodice. It featured mandarin collar and long sleeves. A dainty lace bonnet, edged in stiff net ruching, held the finger-tip veil of illusion net which was trimmed with lovers' knots.

She carried a white prayer book topped with a mauve orchid and lily of the valley. For something old, the bride wore an engagement ring that was owned by her grandmother, Mrs. H. Elsmore.

Pale blue nylon marquisette over taffeta fashioned the ankle-length dress worn by the bride's only attendant, Miss Alys Sampson. The net yoke was fastened with small covered buttons up to the Peter Pan collar.

She wore a matching blue net bonnet, mits and ballerina slippers and carried a colonial bouquet of pink carnations touched with blue iris.

Best man was Robert Clarke, brother of the groom and usher were Roy Clarke, cousin of the groom, and Peter Ferguson.

Mrs. C. Leask made and presented the three-tier wedding cake which centred the table at a reception held at the home of the bride's parents.

Spring flowers were prominent and white tulle surrounded the cake which was set on a lace cloth flanked by a single pink candle on either side.

Luther-Holman proposed the toast to his niece.

Mrs. Clarke donned a rayon suit of pink and grey check for a honeymoon on the Mainland. She chose a navy topcoat and accessories, pink straw hat and orchid corsage. The newlyweds will make their home in Nanaimo.

Box bags have been softened with pleating or drape. Black patent is expected to be a leading seller. You'll also see the russet colors... called such names as "benedictine," cognac and tropical tan. Handbags in bright red, or the darker cherry reds are being shown with apple greens or pinks... as well as with the more conservative navys and greys.

Perfume That Clings

Q.—Dear Claire: I adore perfume, but for some reason or other its fragrance just does not last on me. I have told several of my friends that I want a new perfume, but first I must find out about a lasting one.

—Mrs. A. W.

A.—A particularly good idea for women who claim that perfume does not "stay with them" is a brand new fragrance medium by Houbigant called Liquid Skin Sachet. It soothes on the skin very easily and lingers longer because of its sachet base. It has a slower rate of diffusion and evaporation than any other type of fragrance. Try this Houbigant Chantilly Liquid Skin Sachet. Only $2.00.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Leg Season Is Upon Us; Better Get 'Em in Shape

As the season for swim suits and shorts approaches women become leg conscious. Men are always that way. Now that skirts are not knee high the fair sex is somewhat protected from displaying defects in leg contour. Even then a nicely turned ankle and calf has turned the head of many a man.

Thank heavens, we now have quite a few inches of choice in the range of skirt length, without looking like Aunt Suella, dragged out of the mothballs, or Mother or Grandma trying to revive the Gay Nineties.

The most becoming skirt length for most women is mid-calf and that is a very good rule to follow. If you are extremely tall or short you may be better off with skirts a bit shorter for the tall girls and a little longer for the short one. Do not go to extremes in this way, though. Many tall women make the mistake of wearing very short skirts to "cut their height" and end up exaggerating it, by looking all legs.

If a woman is extremely bow-legged there may be a point on her legs which is best and does not follow this rule. If she has very thin legs a skirt a bit longer may decrease the pipe-stem appearance.

Leg defects are more difficult to correct than many other figure faults but improvement can be made. It is easier to build up thin legs and slim fat thighs than it is to change the ankle or reduce the calf.

The heavy thigh comes from two things. Over weight and individual glandular impact may cause fat to be deposited at this point. Slumping muscles are also an important factor. The following exercise is helpful in both instances.

Legs are straight. Roll over onto the right side. Roll back and on over onto the left side. Place the right hand on the floor in front of you and raise the right leg toward the ceiling, knee stiff. Continue. Next roll over onto the left side and then onto the right side and raise the left leg toward the ceiling. This calls for a little handwork.

The arms are extended straight out from the shoulders at the start. The left hand is placed on the floor in front of you to stop you when you roll onto the right side. The right hand is placed on the floor in front of you to stop you and give balance when you roll onto the left side and raise the right leg upward.

If you would like to have my leaflet which deals with the usual defects in leg contour send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for Leaflet No. 13, "Take Steps Toward Lovely Legs," to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Banking Studied By Siamese Women

OTTAWA, April 28 (CP).—A young Siamese woman is setting a precedent at the staid Bank of Canada.

Foreign visitors frequently come to the bank, but Miss Krongthong Chutima is the first woman ever to attempt to take the bank apart to see how it works.

Miss Chutima, 34-year-old chief of the international section of the Bank of Thailand, is here under sponsorship of the international bank for reconstruction and development, better known as the world bank.

She is learning something of the policies and practices of Canada's central bank. After a six-week term here, she will return to Washington where she has been doing similar work at the United States Treasury Department. Later she will return to Bangkok where her knowledge may be put to use by the Bank of Thailand.

Daughter of a banker, Miss Chutima decided early on a business career. She is one of a family of five boys and two girls. In 1938, Miss Chutima went to England where she took a Bachelor of Commerce degree at the University of Bristol.

She says careers for women are no novelty in her country. Women have been elected to the House of Representatives and they have been active in business for many years.

HELPS FOOD ALLERGIES

NEW YORK, April 28 (AP).—A tip for people with food allergies—boil the food.

Boiling hardens or coagulates the albumin in the food. The hardened albumin doesn't get into the bloodstream to induce the allergy, Dr. Bret Ratner, of New York Medical College, told the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology recently.

He reported tests showing that proper boiling does the trick, avoiding allergies such as asthma, hives and eczema. Allergic people can drink milk if it's boiled or evaporated and eat eggs if they're hard-boiled for half an hour, boiled meats, or well-boiled vegetables, fruits and cereals.

London Students To Learn by TV

LONDON, April 28 (CP).—Pupils in 12 London schools will get their lessons by television during May.

Every school-day for one month the children will see and hear teachers over a special closed circuit which ordinary viewers will be unable to pick up. The pupils will be between 11 and 16 years of age.

Each age group will receive 20 TV lessons. Inspectors of the Schools' Broadcasting Council will periodically test the classes' reaction.

Science lessons now are being planned. Other subjects will include geography, history and current affairs. The new plans are in charge of George Barnes, British Broadcasting Corporation's director of television.

For many years the BBC has given a wide range of radio lessons daily to schools all over the country. The new plans are expected to expand rapidly if they prove successful.

IN THE LINE WITH THE TIMES

By TOMMIE WALTERS

STAR DUST... Ronald Coleman is seeking a license from the F.C.C. to operate a New TV station in Santa Barbara... George Sanders wants to do a TV show as co-star with his wife, Zsa Zsa Gabor... Dick Powell will be doing two Zsa Zsa shows next fall... one dramatic and the other variety... Mary Livingstone has been offered a producer's post at C.B.S., according to late reports... and Georgina Johnstone, wife of Bill Johnstone, who stars in the "Line Up" series, has been named casting director for Screen Television Productions in Hollywood... She is also personal secretary to radio actress Agnes Moorehead... Al Woodbury, former musical director of the "Music With the Girls" air show, is being considered for a similar post with a top air show which is about to change conductors... Screen star Richard Conte and his wife Ruth are on the verge of signing to do a series for TV based on the "Man Called X" radio show... We also hear that one major network has asked Danny Kaye to write his own ticket for a TV show, but he's turning down all offers—at least for the time being.

TV ECHOES... Comedienne Cass Daley is among the latest to be signed to an exclusive TV contract by C.B.S.... Loretta Young wanted $100,000 and 50 per cent of the film rights for a series so the intended sponsor dropped negotiations... Art Linkletter's "House Party" probably will be a 'simulcast' feature next fall with the TV show being taped for radio release next day... Vaughn Monroe, in the film capital for a movie assignment, has been offered a video vehicle by one of the nets, and he'll likely accept... Les Mitchell, director of radio's "Hollywood Theatre," has leased studio space in Mexico City to turn out TV films... Discussions are under way to convert "The Big Show," starring Tallulah Bankhead, into a video show beginning in the fall. Reports from New York also state that Meredith Willson, the show's musical director, has been asked to emcee an hour-long variety on TV this summer, and that his "Music Room" will remain on the air throughout the summer.

NOTE TO MRS. NASON... Paul returns to the program, "One Man's Family," for Tuesday night's 20th anniversary broadcast. In private life, Michael Raffetto, he has been absent from the program for eight months due to an illness but has kept in close contact with the cast during that time and has assisted Carlton E. Morse in writing the script.

TONIGHT... Patricia Munnell, who recently visited Victoria, returns as guest on "Voice of Firestone" at 5:30 on KOMO. "Lux Theatre" offers James Stewart and Marlene Dietrich in "No Highway in the Sky" at 6 on CBU and KIRO. "Press Conference" at 7:30 on CJVI and CJOR. "The Railroad Hour" at 8:30 presents Gordon MacKae and Nadine Connor in "The Pink Lady" on KOMO, followed by the "Telephone Hour" at 9 on same station. "Opportunity Knocks" at 9:30 on CJVI.

Radio times and programs are furnished by stations and networks and are subject to last minute change. The Times assumes no responsibility for inaccurate listings.

10-Year Cycles for Small Animals In Northern Area Puzzles Scientists

By LORNE BRUCE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDMONTON (CP)—Science has been unable to explain why the rabbit population fluctuates violently in 10-year cycles, or why such a cycle is confined to the northern sections of the northern hemisphere.

Dr. William Rowan, 59-year-old dean of the zoology department of the University of Alberta, has spent 30 years on study of the two problems which he calls "the most seemingly-insoluble puzzles in the world of animal conservation."

While the cycle is most marked in the case of rabbits, it applies also to certain insects, fish, non-migratory birds and mammals. It has been detected even in two imported species of birds, the grey partridge and the Hungarian pheasant.

Old French Bell Provides 27-year Puzzle

FORT FRANCES, Ont. (CP)—

For 27 years a fur buyer from Ranier, Minn., across the international boundary from this northwestern Ontario town, has been trying to find out the origin of a small bronze bell he found on Rainy Lake.

George Stoffels says he found the bell in 1925 while on a hunting trip. It bears the date 1878 and the inscription, "Saigne Legier," on one side and "Chian-tel Fonder" on the other. Seven small roses adorn the top.

The bell is clear toned and measures four inches across the base and 3 1/2 inches from top to bottom. It has a handle shaped in the form of a rectangle as though it was designed for a heavy strap.

Stoffels learned recently that similar bells have turned up in the Duluth area of Minnesota and as far away as Oregon. Other bells have been found at Two Harbors, Minn., and along the shore of Lake Superior. One was found hanging from a tree-top in eastern Oregon.

The theory has been advanced that the bells were hung in the forests by some forgotten religious order to remind travelers that God is always watching.

Another possibility is that the bells were carried west by French lumberjacks several generations ago as good-luck charms. Stoffels discounts the latter theory because he found the bell in an area that hadn't been logged.

King Farouk Collects Razor Blade Covers

NEW YORK (AP)—What king has one of the world's finest collections of covers from razor blade packages?

Why, King Farouk of Egypt. This round nabob of the Nile has won considerable notoriety as one of the last of the 'royal playboys.'

But little attention has been paid to his serious side as reflected by his urge to collect things. Few know that Farouk has assembled probably the largest private coin collection in the world, valued at several million dollars.

It has never been publicly exhibited. One of the few who have seen it is Hans M. F. Schulman, an international dealer in rare coins.

"Anybody who collects coins basically has a serious nature," said Schulman. "But King Farouk also is an ardent stamp and matchbook collector. He also collects arms and armour, books on Egypt and Mohammedanism, and the covers of razor blade packages."

"After finishing his affairs of state he sometimes retires alone to his room and works over his coins and stamps until 6 in the morning."

Like any enthusiastic amateur, Farouk likes to do his collecting personally. An Amsterdam lady sent him some Dutch matchbook covers and asked if he had any Cairo matchbook covers in exchange. The King rounded them up and mailed them to her himself.

Veteran Press Returned to Calgary Home

CALGARY (CP)—A couple of veteran printers donned ink-smudged aprons the other day and gave a 100-year-old Washington hand press a workout in The Calgary Herald's business office.

For the printers, Harry B. Wilson and John D. McArthur, and the press, too, it was a case of returning home. Years ago the men operated the press which turned out the first Calgary Herald.

The press was made some time between 1845 and 1860 by R. Hoe & Co. of New York. It was little more than a youngsters when set up in Calgary in 1883 by T. B. Braden, a teacher from Peterborough, Ont., and A. M. Armour, a Barrie, Ont., printer, who began publishing the community's first newspaper.

After the Herald's progress had relegated it to a proof and poster press it saw service at The Okotoks (Alta.) Weekly Review from 1900 until 1947.

Its owner, Charles Clark, Jr., publisher of the Review and The High River (Alta.) Weekly Times, recently donated the Washington press to The Calgary Herald because of its historical value.

So it was like meeting up with an old friend when printers Wilson and McArthur came down to the Herald specially to give the old press a public tryout.

Wilson, a retired superintendent of the Calgary firm alarm system, worked the press back in the 1890's. McArthur, who now operates his own printing business in Calgary, pulled many proofs on the old Washington in those early days, too.

There was a lot of banter as the two veterans of the trade linked a bed of type—an old-time advertisement for an auction sale—and checked the finished proof.

Former Roman Port Found in East Norfolk

LONDON (CP)—A lost port, wasteland split by many waterways and surrounded by a giant wall, about 5,000 feet in length, built by the Romans in the Second Century, has been found by archaeologists at Caister, an east
Norfolk fishing village. Previously experts had believed the only Roman town in East Anglia was at Caistor, near Norwich.

The discovery at Caister was made when workmen laying a waterpipe for a new housing estate, found some Roman coins, followed by the discovery of other relics. Since then, investigation has disclosed that the forgotten town was at one time a flourishing community of 34 acres, fairly large for a Roman provincial town. Its location, however, has become more of a mystery.

Excavations have shown that Caister was built in a roadless northern Gaul, five years or more to build the wall.

Mr. Green says that great
Charles Green, in charge of operations for the ministry of works, estimates at least 250,000

THE DOCTOR ANSWERS

Hair Rinse Chemicals Can Cause Big Damage

Almost anything we do can result in trouble for some people, even though most others can do the same thing without difficulty.

Q—Recently I used a color rinse on my hair for gray hair. After using as directed, my scalp started burning so badly that I had to wash my hair with soap and water to remove the tint. In a few days my head started breaking out all over and itching. I'm losing my hair by the handful. What do you think was wrong?

A—There was evidently some chemical in the rinse used to which you were extremely sensitive. The result described can be considered a dermatitis or eczema, and you should, at all costs, avoid using the same rinse again, or any other until your skin has been tested for it. The care of a skin specialist is indicated.

Q—Is it true that the complexion has a tendency to become darker from the use of coffee?

A—This is an extraordinary idea, and is surely untrue.

Q—Please tell me if it is unhealthy to use gas for heating if one has a flu to carry off the fumes.

A—There have been some serious accidents from defective gas heaters which did not carry off the fumes, but as long as these fumes are removed from the atmosphere which people breathe, there is no harm involved.

Q—Does cancer of the breast occur in small-breasted women as well as those with large breasts?

A—Unfortunately, yes.

Q—Can the heartbeats of an unborn child change much when taken at different times?

A—As a rule, the heartbeats of an unborn child stay more or less the same for that particular child. During delivery, however, the heartbeats of the infant are carefully observed since any unfavorable change may serve as a reason for hastening the birth.

Q—Is penicillin a sedative, and does it ease pain?

A—Penicillin is an antibiotic which opposes the action of certain kinds of germs. It is not a sedative, and does not relieve pain, except insofar as it may attack an infection which is causing pain.

Q—I have a friend who received second and third degree burns nearly two years ago and isn't healed yet. What could be done to heal them, or is this natural?

A—In long-unhealed burns of this sort the possibility of skin grafting will have to be considered.

Q—What can cause my eyelids and ankles to swell? I have had trouble with both and wonder what kind of tests I should take to find out.

A—The most probable causes are kidney disease or heart disease. You should go at once to a physician and have thorough tests of the urine, the blood, the heart, and indeed, your physical condition in general.

Students From Many Lands Solid Friendship Group

By HUMPHRY DAVY

If anyone should have any doubts that peace and mutual understanding between nations is beyond the realm of possibility, they should meet 28 students from 17 different countries who arrived here over the week-end for a two-day visit.

The students from the University of Washington, Seattle, are the guests of the Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club, who made arrangements to bring them to the city. Mrs. F. F. Powell Jr., director of foreign students for the university, is in charge of the party.

The most striking aspect about the group is the goodwill and friendship which prevails among the students of diverse cultural backgrounds. The group represents what education can do to bring people of different cultures together.

In the group there is Eugenio Chang—Rodriguez—who hails from Lima, Peru. Then there are Sivalingam Sellaipah, a fisheries student from Ceylon, attractive Claire Brandicourt, of Paris, France; Hans von Esbeck-Platen, Aachen, Germany; and Per Hoff, Oslo, Norway.

There are others from China, Japan, India, Greece and other European countries, including one Canadian, George Subasic, Rossland, B.C.

"When you work with students from all parts of the world you get a different outlook on things," said Mrs. Powell. "You realize that it is possible for people of different nationalities to get along."

The party was taken on a trip up-island by the Business and Professional Women's Club this afternoon and given dinner at the Elan camp for International Living at Cherry Point.

The students were also guests at a luncheon given by the University Women's Club before leaving for their up-island trip.

Substantial Campaign Funds Assured Socreds

Election of Alberta M.P. to Run Election Battle Held Certain to Bring Alberta Cash

British Columbia Social Crediters, having elected an Alberta M.P., their campaign leader for the June election, have assured themselves substantial campaign fund donations from the neighboring province's powerful party.

This was the feeling of many delegates at the conclusion of the one-day convention in New Westminster Saturday.

The convention elected Rev. Ernest G. Hansell, M.P. and national S.C. president, campaign leader.

The convention decided against naming a political leader. He will be named by the M.L.A.'s—not a convention—after the election. The campaign leader's task would finish with the election.

Nominated for the position of campaign leader, but withdrawing before the election, were W. A. C. Bennett, South Okanagan; W. N. Chant, Squamish; Lyle Wicks, Vancouver, provincial president, and Solon Low, Peace River, national leader.

Queried after the convention about campaign funds for B.C.'s party, Rev. Hansell gave no specific assurance any would be forthcoming. He said there is an "On to Ottawa Fund" in Alberta, but he couldn't say if it would be applied to B.C.

He said, though, that speakers would come from Alberta to help in the campaign and Alberta could be called on for advice and guidance.

The matter of support from Alberta figured prominently in the convention and Rev. Hansell's election.

SUPPORT OFFERED
Delegates were read a letter from the Alberta Social Credit League and the national association which promised support in the B.C. campaign—if someone from outside B.C. was chosen "campaign leader."

The letter counselled against election of a "political leader" by the convention. The political leader, who would become premier if Social Credit was elected, should be chosen by the successful candidates, not the convention, it said.

The outside campaign leader suggestion threw the convention into a long debate which the chairman, Eric Martin, vice-president of B.C.'s party, had difficulty controlling. Some speakers termed the letter an "ultimatum."

One faction, fighting for a B.C. leader, said election of an outsider suggested there is no body in B.C. with the ability to handle the job. The opposing view was that the B.C. party needed someone with experience and that could only be found outside B.C.

LONG WRANGLE
There was a long wrangle over whether the party's constitution allowed appointment of an outsider.

A motion that the leader be a B.C. man was lost, and then nominations of persons from anywhere in Canada were permitted. The convention also was split on the advisability of a campaign manager or a political leader. But the advice of the party bigwigs in Alberta and Ottawa won out.

It was the rural ridings which forced the convention to name an outside man instead of a B.C. man, and a campaign leader instead of a political leader. The rural riding delegates, many of them ex-Albertan farmers, apparently were well-organized, and had no trouble in electing Rev. Hansell.

City delegates said after the convention they were "sick at heart."

"They've undone all our hard work. Social Credit is finished here before it had a chance to show itself. Election of an outsider was the worst possible move," one said.

Bennett, who has worked hard for the leadership, said he would support Rev. Hansell 100 per cent.

Bennett still could be elected party leader after the election. Said Rev. Hansell: "I'll not stand in your way. You will have complete freedom in electing a political leader after the election."

He promised there will be no "interference" in B.C.'s affairs by Alberta in the election campaign.

JOINT EXERCISES
MILDEHALL, England, April 28 (Reuters).—British paratroopers made a surprise attack on the United States air force base here Saturday. It was the first of a series of combined Anglo-American paratroop exercises.

A total of 120 paratroopers was dropped from 700 feet from U.S. air force transport planes. So when this series opens, at the Park on Pembroke Street. You'll see the mighty Casey knock the dirt from out each cleat. You'll see him step up there, upon this opening day. The score is maybe 2 to 4, with but an inning left to play.

Five thousand eyes will be on him, who's lived so long a lug. Pardon us a moment while we slide in here a plug. 'Cause just like mighty Casey, whose bat was like a sieve, We want to see you at the Park, but we too gotta live.

We've shown our stuff to Casey, he thinks it fills the bill. "It's nicer than anything, I've seen in all Mudville."

"Thank you, Mr. Casey, now get in there at bat."

We're down behind the Post Office, if you don't know where we're at.

Now hurtling thru the air, comes that leather-covered sphere, And Casey will be watching it, he's forgotten all his fear; Deep inside Casey knows, he'll feel that inner glow, You'll see the pill go sailing from the force of Casey's blow.

You'll glue your hearts upon that ball, it will gather speed, To clear the fence by some 2 ft., then farther will proceed, You'll strain your eyes upon it, and forever testify, It soared right over Princess Street, & vanished in the sky.

(hush) Oh . . . people in this favored land, who'll see this awesome sight, Will know it's not a saucer streaking the night; So they will stand up laughing, as happy as you please, The spirit of Mighty Casey will leap for the Tyres.

Mental Health Week May 4-10

A real understanding on the part of all Canadians, of the importance of good mental health in childhood years, will be stressed during Mental Health Week to be observed in Canada May 4 to 10.

Sponsored by the Canadian Mental Health Association, Mental Health Week will seek public support to improve and expand mental hospitals and clinics.

The association points out there is a great need to combat poor mental health because out of every 100 Canadian school children, it is estimated that at some time in their life five will be committed to a mental hospital, two will go to prison, and at least five will be emotional problems to themselves and their families.

CASEY AT THE BAT (A Sequel)

Now in the famous story of Casey & the pill. Retold by countless orators & even Rev. Hill.

Casey, mighty Casey, was left a slinking rat.

He never got another chance, to stand in there at bat.

So we propose to pick him up, & hold his trembling knees, To give him license, he'll bat for the Tyres.

A veteran that is needed, too long he has played hookey, We've pulled him back from Mudville to bolster up a rookie.

Casey still feels AWFUL, when he thinks about THAT game, How Cooney'd died at second, & Burrows just the same; When he hadn't thot he'd make it, as in that pen he'd sat, There hadn't seemed a chance, he'd ever get to bat.

His thots go back to Blakey, he also thinks of Flynn, How Blakey'd ripped the cover off, determined HE should win; Again that crowd goes crazy, that madly shouting herd, And Blakey's safe at second, & Flynn's spiked into third.

So when this series opens, at the Park on Pembroke Street, You'll see the mighty Casey knock the dirt from out each cleat; You'll see him step up there, upon this opening day, The score is maybe 2 to 4, with but an inning left to play.

Five thousand eyes will be on him, who's lived so long a lug, Pardon us a moment while we slide in here a plug. 'Cause just like mighty Casey, whose bat was like a sieve, We want to see you at the Park, but we too gotta live.

We've shown our stuff to Casey, he thinks it fills the bill, "It's nicer than anything, I've seen in all Mudville."

"Thank you, Mr. Casey, now get in there at bat."

We're down behind the Post Office, if you don't know where we're at.

Now hurtling thru the air, comes that leather-covered sphere, And Casey will be watching it, he's forgotten all his fear; Deep inside Casey knows, he'll feel that inner glow, You'll see the pill go sailing from the force of Casey's blow.

You'll glue your hearts upon that ball, it will gather speed, To clear the fence by some 2 ft., then farther will proceed, You'll strain your eyes upon it, and forever testify, It soared right over Princess Street, & vanished in the sky.

(hush) Oh . . . people in this favored land, who'll see this awesome sight, Will know it's not a saucer streaking the night; So they will stand up laughing, as happy as you please, The spirit of Mighty Casey will leap for the Tyres.

LOCUSTS SWARM

JERUSALEM, April 28 (AP)—Swarms of locusts eclipsed the sun over Israel Sunday, then settled down in the Judean hills near Jerusalem, in the mountains of Galilee, in the southern desert and on the coastal plain. Army planes are standing by ready to spread poison, and the agriculture department hopes it will be possible to destroy the new locusts as they emerge from the eggs, in about a fortnight.

LITTLE MAN, BIG VOICE

Albertan Who Leads Socreds Longtime M.P.

Rev. Ernest G. Hansell, the man who has been charged with the responsibility of electing a Social Credit government in British Columbia June 12, is a short, serious-looking, little man who doesn't smoke or drink.

Conscious of his small frame, the music-loving federal member of parliament from McLeod, Alta., says he is five feet four inches, "but I try to stretch it as much as I can."

Rev. Hansell was elected the party's "campaign leader" in New Westminster Saturday. He is national president of the Social Credit Association.

He has been a federal M.P. since 1935, and contends his job isn't particularly hard because all he has to do is "point out the Liberal Government's mistakes." Married twice, he has two daughters, a son and two stepsons. He came to Canada from England as an infant. Rev. Hansell is an honorary minister of the Christian Church of Vulcan, Alta.

On a platform he can raise his voice to thunderous tones, but when in ordinary conversation he speaks softly, calmly and with a few gesticulations.

Bad Weather Slackens Air War in Korea

SEOUL, Korea, April 28 (AP)—Stormy weather today held air and ground action in the Korean war to a minimum.

Allied night fliers had poor hunting, the Fifth Air Force said. Pilots destroyed 29 supply vehicles at Wonsan on the northeast coast but generally air strikes were fruitless.

About 100 Chinese, supported by mortar fire, attacked an Allied position northeast of Kumhwa on the central front. They were thrown back.

Two Allied patrols on the central front occupied a Communist position southeast of Kumsong after a day-long battle Sunday.

Communist patrols probed on the central front but there were no reports of positions changing hand.

In Tokyo, Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's headquarters said the Reds have built a defense belt—a crude "Siegfried line"—across Korea since truce talks began 9 1/2 months ago. An official army analysis said the Red build-up does not yet pose a threat to United Nations forces. The report placed Communist troop strength at more than 750,000 men, mostly Chinese, and said more than one-half the Red air force of 1,500 planes is jet-powered.

Allied planes still control the air, the report continued, but this has not prevented the Communists from building up their front-line supplies.

Higher Age Limit Proposed
TORONTO, April 28 (CP).—The Ontario Hockey Association Saturday went on record as favoring a higher age limit for junior A hockey players in Canada.

About 120 delegates, representing 53 hockey clubs throughout the province, voted in favor of raising the age limit from 20 to 21, at the association's 63rd annual convention.

This is the way to mark your ballot under Alternative Voting

Alternative Voting will be used in the coming Provincial Election.

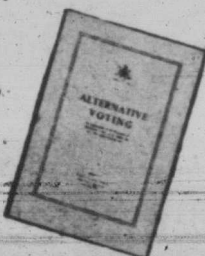

Explaining Alternative Voting briefly, it may be said that the voter has no longer to content himself with marking an X for just one candidate. He marks a first choice for his candidate, and then proceeds to make a second, third and possibly further choices for as many candidates as have been nominated.

On counting the ballots, if the highest candidate has an absolute majority over and above the total votes cast for all the other candidates, he is declared elected. If, however, no candidate obtains an absolute majority on the first count, a second count is required. Before doing this, the lowest candidate is excluded and the second choices on that candidate's ballot are transferred to the other candidates as indicated on his ballot. If the second count elects no one on an absolute majority, the next lowest candidate is eliminated making a third count necessary. This is continued until some candidate obtains an absolute majority.

Premises Unfit for Use As Home for Aged, Claim

DUNCAN, April 28.—Conditions of the old grammar school are not considered entirely satisfactory for a home for the aged, in the opinion of Mrs. Edith Pringle, inspector of hospitals, B.C.H.S. G. E. Welburn, chairman, told the board of directors of Duncan Hospital.

While her official report had not been received, Mr. Welburn reported to the board from notes he had taken on her remarks when on an inspection of the property.

Mrs. Pringle did not feel that the accommodation was suitable for bed cases, Mr. Welburn stated, but thought it would be so for ambulatory cases. It would require much reconstruction, she said, and financing of the project would require a public campaign for funds.

While the building was stated to be in a good state of repair it would be necessary to construct fire chutes, and Mrs. Pringle stressed staff requirements. If used solely for walking cases a staff of five would be sufficient, but with bed cases a much larger staff would be necessary.

Cost per patient for ambulatory cases, would be about $50 to $60 per patient per month, and the building could accommodate up to 25 people. For bed-ridden cases the cost per patient would be about $150 per month. Approximately 25 to 30 patients would be needed to make it pay.

Directors refrained from any action on the matter until Mrs. Pringle's written report was received, though one director felt that other opinions should be obtained.

Difficulty in securing nurses was declared due to a lower basic salary being paid in Duncan than in other parts of B.C. and a meeting between the labor relations committee and the nurses was arranged to review the basic rates of pay. The committee was empowered to grant an increase of $5 a month in the basic salary, bringing it up to the same level as at other hospitals within the region.

ISLAND DIGEST

DUNCAN, April 28.—The violin in the famous team of "Rubinoff and his violin" is insured for $100,000, and will be heard Thursday night at Cowichan High School auditorium.

A Stradivarius, it was once owned by the Romazoffs, royal family of Russia. During the revolution it was smuggled out of Russia, and eventually was purchased by Dave Rubinoff.

Duncan Kiwanis Club is sponsor of the concert.

DUNCAN, April 28.—Officials and members of Local 180, I.W.A., were told Sunday at an open meeting here that the union would stand firm in the matter of present wage negotiations. Order files of the industry were in a good position despite uncertainties in business from one or two sources, it was stated.

Joe Morris, local president, said membership would be called out on strike if a new contract were not signed. A report on current contract talks in Vancouver was given by district officer Claude Ballard.

DUNCAN, April 28.—J. Sandys-Wunsch won the Knights of Pythias public speaking contest final Saturday night with an address on Abraham Lincoln.

Only other contestant was Robin Brammell, North Saanich. Judges were Gordon Robinson, Victoria; D. G. Dunne, Chemainus; and P. H. Dunne, Duncan. The winner received a perpetual trophy and a small silver cup to keep for himself.

Chairman was A. M. Dirom.

DUNCAN, April 27.—A cash donation of $500 from Hillcrest Lumber Company toward the cost of the new X-ray machine installed last week in Duncan Hospital was announced by Ferguson Hoey, administrator. Industry, he said, had thus rendered its appreciation of the new machine and what it would mean to the district. The machine cost $11,360.

It was hoped by the hospital board that other industrial organizations might lend similar support, in recognition of this first-class equipment which was available for care of industrial accidents.

LANGFORD, April 28.—Drive sponsored by Langford Community Club, P.T.A., Buffalo Lodge and Scouts to create a two-acre recreational park behind the Community Hall is making good progress, according to E. F. LeQueune, park committee chairman.

The committee is conducting a house-to-house canvass to raise funds for the park.

DUNCAN, April 28.—Truck-carried mail will be slower than that now carried on trains because all mail will have to be sorted at post offices for delivery, according to George E. Bonner, Vancouver Island Ratepayers' Association president.

Instead of being sorted on the train for delivery the same day, it will have to lay over in post offices for sorting, he said.

Welch Wins Nomination

COURTENAY, April 28.—Herbert J. Welch, Coalition member for Comox in the last Legislature, has been nominated as Liberal candidate in the riding for the provincial election June 12.

Others nominated in the riding to date are Dr. W. B. Gordon, Progressive Conservative; William Moore, C.C.F.; and C. H. Poole, Social Credit.

200,000 Women in U.K. Seek Pay Hike

LONDON, April 28 (Reuters)—Five trade unions, representing about 200,000 women employed in Britain's engineering industry, have put in a claim for a "substantial increase" in wages to their employers' federation. The claims are the biggest rebuff yet to Richard Butler, Conservative Chancellor of the Exchequer, who has appealed for restraint over new wage demands.

ILLEGAL ENTRY CHARGED

VIENNA, Austria, April 28 (Reuters)—More than 500 Communist officials from other countries have crossed illegally into Austria since January with Russian help to take part in Communist conferences here, the under-secretary of state for the interior, Ferdinand Graf, said in a speech Saturday night.

50,000 Woodworkers Set to Strike

PORTLAND, April 28 (AP)—Some 50,000 International Woodworkers (C.I.O.) were prepared to strike at midnight tonight as contract negotiations remained deadlocked in a major segment of the lumber industry in five states.

The union negotiating committee and plywood industry employers were scheduled to meet with federal conciliators today and a meeting with Willamette Valley lumber operators was set for tonight.

But these two represented only a small part of the pine and fir workers in Oregon, Washington, Northern California, Idaho and Western Montana.

Begin Surveys for Oil Pipeline

Demand Changes in B.C. Liquor Laws

VANCOUVER, April 28 (CP)—Canadian Legionnaires here today renewed their demand for changes in the provincial liquor laws to allow Indian members of veterans' clubs to drink liquor by the glass.

Clark Selected For Korea Post

Ridgway Will Take Over European Job June 1; Gruenther to Remain

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP)—Gen. Matthew Ridgway was appointed today to succeed General Eisenhower as supreme Allied commander in Europe.

President Truman announced at the same time the appointment of Gen. Mark Clark to succeed Ridgway as the United Nations commander in Korea and Commander-in-Chief of the United States armed forces in Far East.

Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther will continue as Chief of Staff to the Supreme Allied Commander in Europe. This is the post he has held under Eisenhower.

Truman said in a statement: "I have every confidence that Generals Ridgway and Gruenther will make an outstanding team for our common defense effort."

Ridgway's appointment and Eisenhower's release as Supreme Allied Commander will become effective approximately June 1. Truman said he is continuing Gruenther as Chief of Staff "in accordance with Gen. Ridgway's desires."

Clark now is commander of army field forces at Fort Monmouth, N.J.

Truman said Clark will continue in the Far East "the policies which have been so ably carried out by Gen. Ridgway with regard to the United Nations action in Korea, including, if possible, the achievement of an honorable armistice."

TOKYO, April 29 (Tuesday) (AP)—Gen. Matthew Ridgway said today he is accepting appointment as Supreme Allied Commander in Europe "with full realization of the great task ahead of me."

Ridgway issued a statement in the early morning hours saying he was "honored" by the confidence shown in him by the appointment to succeed Gen. Eisenhower.

Japanese Rule Alone as War Formally Ends

No Incident Mars Independence Night

By OLEN CLEMENTS

TOKYO, April 28 (AP)—Quiet fell over the misty Japanese islands tonight.

No incident marred the night that officially ended history's bloodiest war in the Orient.

Japan again became independent at 10:30 p.m. (6:30 a.m. EDT) — the hour set arbitrarily by the United States and Japanese governments to mark the close of six years and eight months of Allied occupation. The peace treaty signed by Japan and 48 other countries—including Canada—became effective at the same time.

There was no dancing in the streets, but peace prayers were offered at shrines. Millions of Japanese flags—the rising sun on a white field—fluttered for the first time since the occupation began.

MARCH JOYFULLY

Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida called it a "magnanimous peace unparalleled in history." He urged his people to "march joyfully, courageously and resolutely on the broad highway of peace and democracy."

Political leaders generally followed his lead. But the Communists were dour. They said today was one of "national humiliation . . . a blot on the nation's history that has never been before."

Full celebration of the conclusion of the peace agreement will be held Saturday.

For Japan it was a great day on the diplomatic front.

Roman Catholics Dissatisfied With Pledge

Up-Island Meeting Hits Liberals

NANAIMO, B.C., April 28 (CP)—A special convention Sunday directed the executive of the British Columbia Catholic Education Association to "actively oppose" any political party which "denies minority rights in education."

Another resolution endorsed at the rally, attended by an estimated 700 Roman Catholics, called for the executive to "oppose any candidate who does not interpret our present system of double education taxation as discrimination which must be eliminated."

A resolution concerning the separate schools issue passed last week at the annual convention of the B.C. Liberal Party came under fire as being "ambiguous."

The executive of the B.C.C.E.A. was instructed to express its dissatisfaction with "such ambiguity."

The resolution passed by the Liberals noted that textbooks are provided free to private as well as to public school students and that in some cases free medical and dental care is provided for other than public school pupils.

The resolution added: "Be it resolved that the government be urged to consider any other apparent matters of discrimination with a view to further eliminating any such discrimination."

Under the present school system in B.C., separate schools do not receive financial aid from the provincial government.

Before passing this resolution, the Liberals voted to shelve an executive resolution calling for partial integration of Roman Catholic schools into the public school system, an aim now being sought by the provinces' Catholics.

The meeting Sunday scolded Education Minister Straith for statements he made recently in a speech to the B.C. Teachers' Federation.

Mr. Straith quoted a statement by Dr. B. Conant, Harvard University president, that a "dual system of education could threaten the democratic unity of the public school system."

ELECTION CAMPAIGN TEMPO IN HIGH GEAR

Conservatives Complete Platform Draft Wednesday; Johnson Opens Island Tour

With three party platforms now drafted, and the fourth slated for completion Wednesday, British Columbia's six-weeks' provincial election campaign swung into high gear today.

Premier Johnson will tee off an island speaking tour for the Liberals at Campbell River tonight.

Social Crediters, after their weekend convention in New Westminster, are planning an intensive campaign directed by Rev. E. G. Hansell, the national president (see story page 8).

Progressive Conservatives are planning a full scale provincial executive meeting in Vancouver Wednesday to nail down its platform. Leader Herbert Anscomb is scheduled to touch off the campaign locally by addressing the Victoria nominating meeting Thursday night when four nominees will vie for the three Victoria candidatures.

MEETINGS TONIGHT

The C.C.F. camp has two big meetings scheduled for tonight in Esquimalt. Party leader Harold Winch will appear at both.

One meeting is at the Fraser Street Hall in Esquimalt municipality; the other, at Colwood Community Hall.

Mr. Winch will open the municipal meeting while Frank Mitchell, candidate for the district, will begin the meeting at Colwood. While each travels to the other meeting, Frank Snowsell, C.C.F. candidate in Saanich, will address the Colwood meeting, and Colin Cameron, party candidate in Victoria, will speak to the Fraser Street meeting.

Here are the known candidates for Greater Victoria voters to consider:

Victoria—Liberals, Mrs. Nancy Hodges, Capt. D. J. Proudfoot, W. T. Straith; C.C.F., Colin Cameron, Mrs. May Campbell, William Caird; Social Credit, Mrs. Lydia Arsens, E. D. McEwan, Donald Smith; Independents, W. A. Scott and Philip Freedman; Conservatives, not yet named.

Saanich—Liberals, Arthur Ash; Conservatives, C. S. H. Holms; C.C.F., Frank Snowsell; Social Credit, A. F. Beyerstein.

Oak Bay—Liberals, Percy Gibbs; Conservatives, Herbert Anscomb; C.C.F., Fred Bevis; Social Credit, George Alexander.

Esquimalt—Liberals, Geoffrey Edgewood; Conservatives, Robert Fort; C.C.F., Frank Mitchell; Social Credit, William Chant.

Roaring Oil Fire Said To Be Under Control

VANCOUVER, April 28 (CP)—Sweating firefighters today brought under control an oil fire raging in the engine room and No. 3 hold of the berthed Dutch freighter Dongedyk.

Twelve firemen were overcome by smoke or received minor injuries. None was sent to hospital. Firemen smothered the flames by spraying foamite into the engine room. The fire blazed for two and one-half hours.

The vessel was gradually being righted at the Ballantyne pier after taking a dangerous 14-degree list to port. For a time, firemen feared she might turn turtle. Water was poured into the empty starboard oil tanks to bring her back on an even keel after tons of water in the engine room dragged her over on her port side.

Damage was estimated at least in the thousands of dollars. The fire was believed caused by a spark striking some oil. Wardens climbed down into the smoldering engine room to assess damage. No crew members or passengers were hastily led to safety by stewards.

The 10,842-ton passenger-cargo Rotterdam ship arrived here Sunday night on her maiden voyage. She was starting to unload when the fire broke out.

Six tugs stood by, ready to pull the ship out into the stream. One tug put a line aboard the freighter.

Ballantyne pier is only a couple of blocks from the United Grain Growers' dock, destroyed in a multi-million-dollar fire last Wednesday.

Elizabeth Sets Coronation Date

LONDON, April 28 (CP)—The Queen announced tonight she will be crowned June 2, 1953.

A brief announcement from Buckingham Palace said: "The Queen has been pleased to appoint Tuesday, June 2, 1953, to be the day of Her Majesty's coronation."

Coronation day thus will fall in Britain's greatest social week of 1953. The following Friday, June 5, the Queen's official birthday will be celebrated.

Elizabeth II became Queen Feb. 6, on the death of her father, King George VI.

She already has taken part in one coronation—in Westminster Abbey, her father, who became King Dec. 11, 1936, after the abdication of Edward VIII, was crowned there May 12, 1937.

The Queen's real birthday is April 21. She will be 27 on her next birthday, just a little more than a month before her coronation. She has set June 5 for the official celebration of her birthday, following a custom set by her father.

Canada will celebrate the Queen's birthday June 9 under a custom whereby the birthday of a sovereign is celebrated on a Monday in June.

Other social events usually held in the first week of June include the famed derby, the trooping of the color and the military pageant known as the Royal Tournament. These may be postponed.

The coronation will come soon after the beginning of Britain's tourist season when the city normally is packed with visitors.

Apart from the official expense, millions of pounds will be spent during the week's festivities.

And the event will be the best lure for dollar customers Britain has ever had.

The coronation of a sovereign is essentially a simple religious service. But throughout the centuries many traditional ceremonies have been added until it has now become a long ritual symbolizing the whole of Britain's history from early Christian days.

The Duke of Norfolk, 44, hereditary earl marshal of England, is responsible for the planning of the coronation. It is a duty he first performed in 1937 at the coronation of King George VI.

Tonight, the Queen appointed a coronation commission of 36 representatives of the United Kingdom, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, Pakistan and Ceylon to help the duke in his task.

The Duke of Edinburgh will be chairman, with the Duke of Norfolk as deputy chairman.

Cheer for a Sick Little Girl

A dying little girl's wish to meet her heroine—Barbara Ann Scott, star of the "Hollywood Ice Revue"—came true recently. A victim of acute leukemia, Gail Palmer, seven, a patient in Toronto's Hospital for Sick Children, had planned for months to attend a performance of the ice revue, now being held at Maple Leaf Gardens. But when the show arrived in Toronto Gail was too sick to attend, so, instead, Barbara Ann visited the heroic little girl in the hospital.
